Human Tissue Aloft With Spy Gadgets

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The United States Air Force, using a new "hot rod" booster, fired into polar orbit Wednesday a Discoverer satellite containing human tissue and sky spy gadgets.

Planes later will try to recover the cargo by catching the parachuting capsule in the air.

The new satellite is circling the earth once every 94 minutes in an egg-shaped path whose far point is 450 miles, near point 150.

Its thrust has been souped up 15,000 pounds to a total of 165,000.

The human tissue, from the underside of an eyelid, was in a 300-pound capsule in the nose of the second stage. With it were bits of human bone marrow, algae, spores, gamma globulin, albumin, gold foil and various kinds of film.

Scientists hope to recover them to learn how they are affected by radiation—vital for the man-in-space program.

Christmas Joy for Those Without Depends Upon Those Who Have

Christmas means many things to many people.

For most it is a time to knit family ties more closely—a time to give a little and to receive a little—a happy time, warm and comfortable and steeped in good fellowship and friendship.

For others it is a time of sadness, a time when the longing looks of children must go unheeded and there is little joy in the world.

These are the people who through misfortune or misadventure face Christmas without the means to provide the comfort, the warmth and the little gifts.

These are the people whose happiness rests upon the generosity of those who support The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

Their ranks number widows with children, the infirm, the unfortunate, the unemployed.

Into their lives, with your help, the Colonist can breathe that spark of brightness which will redeem a season of disillusion and restore it to one of happiness, of festive well-being.

Often from such a spark can be rekindled the true flame of life which transforms

GUEST BANKER COYNE ECONOMISTS DEMAND

All-Canada Plea Sent to Fleming

(Special to the Colonist)

OTTAWA—Resignation of James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, has been called for by university economics professors across Canada in a letter addressed to Hon. Donald Fleming, minister of finance.

The letter states bluntly, "We have lost confidence in the ability of the bank's management to play its proper role in ameliorating and resolving (our economic, trade and financial) difficulties."

One of the letter's authors summed up its beginnings this way: "It all began last June. It seemed that every time we economists would meet, the conversation invariably got around to governor Coyne and the policies of the Bank of Canada."

"We found both a source of increasing surprise, bewilderment and anger."

"More and more we found ourselves in disagreement with the governor and the bank's program. It got so that everybody was telling everybody else that Mr. Coyne was making only nonsense, until finally we reached the point where we felt we had to become specific."

"The letter, then, appeared the sensible course of action; and so we began work on it, and I am glad to report, it has been given the unanimous approval of our colleagues in the group."

EDMONTON (UPI) — Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton yesterday forecast a sizable reduction in the price of butter to the Canadian consumer. He said sales were dropping at present prices.

Three Pastors Survive Crash

ALERT BAY — Three United Church ministers were rescued by a fishboat here Wednesday after their Cessna float aircraft flipped over on takeoff.

Rescued were Rev. Wayne MacKenzie, pilot, of Alert Bay, Rev. Bill Van Druten and Rev. Chris Jack, both of Nanaimo. None of the men was injured.

WING DIGS IN

The mission plane, which was to take the trio to Port Alice where a new congregation was to be constituted, was dedicated by church dignitaries Oct. 24.

The incident was described by Mr. Van Druten who said: "We were just about off the water when one wing suddenly lifted and the other one dug into the surface. Forward motion of the plane forced the nose into the water, and it flipped over."

He said the three fought with their safety belts as the plane sank deeper into the water.

"We were able to get out on the wing when it was about a foot under water — then as the plane sank deeper we climbed onto the pontoons."

He said the men spent only about five minutes on the sinking plane before the fishboat arrived.

Municipal Polls Open From 8 to 8 Today

Greater Victoria municipal voters will go to the polls today between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Eligible to vote in the municipalities of the Greater Victoria area are residents and those who own or rent property though they may live in another municipality.

But only those on the voters' lists of the city or municipalities may cast ballots.

choosing four aldermen from 11 candidates.

Sanich residents will elect three councillors from 12 candidates, and property owners of the Cadboro Bay-Gordon Head-Shelbourne districts will vote on sewer bylaws for $1,200,000.

They also will pick one District 61 school trustee from three candidates.

WHERE TO VOTE

Polling stations for Sanich residents are the CCF Hall, Douglas Street; Gordon Head Community Hall, Hampton Hall, Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall, Lansdowne Junior High, McMorran's Seaview Room, Marigold Scout Hall, Mount View High, Prospect Lake School, Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall, St. George's Martyr Hall, St. Luke's Hall, and St. Martin's in-the-Fields Hall.

Oak Bay electors will choose three councillors from four candidates and ratepayers will be asked to indicate whether or not they favor the reeve and councillors receiving indemnities. They will vote at the municipal hall.

Central Sanich voters, casting their ballots at the municipal hall and the Keating and Brentwood Women's Institute halls, will pick five councillors from among nine candidates.

In the rural area of School District 63, voters will elect one of two candidates as a trustee.

Liquor Profit Tax-Troubled

MONTREAL (CP) — J. M. McAvity, chairman of the House of Seagram Ltd., said Wednesday excessive federal taxation of liquor has resulted in a sharp loss of revenue to distillers.

Liquor, Pills Fatal Mixture

VANCOUVER (CP) — A mixture of liquor and barbiturates has killed 50 persons here this year, coroner Glen McDonald said Wednesday.

He said many of the victims apparently weren't aware of the danger and paid no attention to the amount of liquor and barbiturates they were using. Other deaths came when drug addicts used the mixture because they couldn't afford heroin, or heavy drinkers to get a bigger kick.

Mr. McDonald said a dose of eight pills taken with beer or liquor can be fatal if treatment isn't given immediately.

Police and medical officials met all day, to investigate ways of stopping the mounting toll, possibly by establishing tighter controls on the sale of barbiturates.

Deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose: "We are very concerned that these barbiturates seem to be so freely available."

Exporters Told To Go All-Out

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night called Canadian exporters to prepare for an "all-out effort to sell their products in the face of regional trading developments."

Diefenbaker told the export trade promotion conference dinner that Canadian access in the European common market and other world trading areas must be improved at next year's international tariff negotiations.

"Canada faces a major test in the United Kingdom and in Western Europe," the prime minister told some 1,000 Canadian businessmen and 111 Canadian foreign trade commissioners attending the conference.

"Canadian exporters must prepare for an all-out effort to sell their products if they are to profit from the vast possibilities of these markets," Diefenbaker said. "Canada's economic opportunities demand the expansion of her world markets."

Sputnik I Changed U.S. Buying Habits

MONTREAL (CP) — Russia's outer space success has changed North American buying habits, says Louis Cheskin, a color research expert from Chicago. He said Wednesday that people became interested in dependability and simplicity after Russia launched its Sputnik I space satellite. Ornamentation and loud multiple coloring dropped sharply in popularity, he told the Advertising and Sales Executives Club here.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

"How are you?" I asked as I sat down at a restaurant table.

"Feeling a little better, thanks," said my friend the waitress. And she coughed, a deep, rumbling cough that made several people turn around in alarm.

"Ah, better," I said. "I didn't know you had been . . . er, that is, I'm glad to hear you're on the mend."

"Thanks," she said. "Achoff! Choff! Choff!"

"Flu?" I asked.

"I think so," she said. "Aaa-choff!"

"Just back at work, I suppose?"

"I never stayed home."

"That's where you made your mistake," I suggested. "The wisest thing is to rest."

"Oh, I managed," she said. "Achoff!"

I leaned away from her, sheltering behind a menu card.

"Any of your customers begun to sicken?" I asked.

This enquiry brought on such a spasm of coughing that she was unable to talk.

"Pour yourself a glass of water," I urged. "I mean, have any of them begun to look pale and spectre-thin? Just picked listlessly at their hamburgers? Collapsed with their faces in the canned chuckwagon dinner?"

"What do you mean?" she asked suspiciously.

"A-huff-huff! Chirr-off!"

"Aren't you afraid of spreading germs?" I enquired.

"I have to eat," she rasped.

"In a way, I suppose you're helping relieve unemployment," I said. "Some of the customers who catch your flu will develop pneumonia and stay away from work. The employers may hire a few people to replace them."

"A few of them may die," I continued, "thereby vacating jobs that can be taken over by some poor fellows with families to support."

"Koff! Koff!" she answered.

"But then a lot of the sick people will keep right on reporting for work, like true office heroes and heroines," I said. "They'll spread more germs and create more employment. In a way, they are doing a public service. Yes, I see your point. This is your winter work project."

"Koff! Koff! Now, what would you like to eat?" she demanded.

I looked at the lunch menu, and then I looked at her.

"Just a coffee, please," I said. "You don't look strong enough to carry anything heavier."

And I scrunched myself down into a corner of the booth and wondered how long it would take for the microbes to do their work.

Your Good Health

Introduce Baby To Solid Foods Slowly, Naturally

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: My first baby is four months and weighs about 14 pounds. She seems to be a happy little girl and I want to keep her that way."

"My doctor told me to start her on solid foods at three months. He said to give her as much as she wants, but most of the time she doesn't want anything but her bottle. Every feeding is a battle and I end up giving her the bottle before she takes any solids."

NOT INTERESTED

"After she has had her formula, she isn't interested in solids. I know she should have the solids first, but how do I explain that to her?"

"I realize that every baby is different, but could you give me some basic idea of how much strained fruit, vegetables, meat, egg yolk and cereal a baby this age should have regularly? I'm afraid of over-feeding or under-feeding her."

"My doctor isn't much help. He keeps telling me to 'give her as much as she wants.' Also he keeps telling me I am taking my job as a mother too seriously. Perhaps I am, but with a little concrete advice maybe I can relax somewhat."

—Mrs. G. F.

All right, New Mother, it's concrete advice you shall have. The first rule of introducing solid foods to a baby is not to make a battle of it. Mealtime for anybody should be pleasant, and that's especially true for babies who are just learning what the world is about.

Second rule: Make the transition gradual. Mix the solid food (that is, the strained baby food) with a bit of milk to make it thinner, if necessary, so it's a gradual change for baby from milk to slightly thicker "milk," to straight baby food.

OUT OF SIGHT

Sometimes it helps to keep the bottle well out of sight until a spoonful or so of the baby food has been eaten. (But don't make an issue of it. Your goal isn't to force the child to eat solid food at any given feeding; your goal is to help her make the easy and natural transition to solid foods.)

And third, don't sell nature short! When your doctor says to let baby "eat what she wants," that's exactly what he means. Because babies, not having had their accurate little appetites distorted by a lot of adult foolishness, will tend to eat what they need, neither more nor less.

DON'T WORRY

Don't, I adjure you, worry about "over-feeding" her, because in this case she isn't eating any solid foods—so you say!

And as to "under-feeding," let's not worry about that, either. If she is getting too little food, one of these days she'll be hungry enough at feeding time to take aboard a helping of the solid (strained) baby food—and like it.

Don't insist on a "basic" schedule of how much of this, that, and the other you should feed her. Put first things first. First find an easy-going, calm way of getting her used to such foods. After that, nature will guide things very well.

I hate to say this, Mrs. G. F., but you are taking the job of mothering a little too seriously. Take it easy.

Economists:

chairman of the board of Carleton University.

Following is the text of the letter addressed to Mr. Fleming:

"The signatories of this letter are all economists on Canadian university faculties or are engaged independently in economic research. Economists very rarely have made joint representations to the government, and we do not possess a professional association that is authorized to speak for Canadian economists on matters of governmental policy and administration."

"This we feel is as it should be."

EXPRESS VIEWS

"By and large academic and research economists should express their views on these matters as individuals—with all the variations of emphasis and interpretation that ought to characterize independently-minded students and observers of public affairs."

"Consequently we send this joint letter to you with considerable regret that we have felt it necessary to abandon individuality which our profession cherishes, protects and promotes."

MUST ACCEPT

"There may come occasions in the affairs of nations when economists must accept, albeit with regret, the responsibility of speaking with the increased power of the united voice on matters of grave public concern."

"The signatories of this letter feel that such a time has come now for Canada and we wish therefore to address you in this way on the management and policies of the Bank of Canada."

"We address you, Mr. Minister, as the sole shareholder of that institution, who holds its shares on behalf of the Government of Canada."

SERIOUS DIFFICULTY

"We are facing serious economic difficulties in Canada both in our domestic economy and in our trade and financial relations with other nations."

"The undersigned economists wish to express to you that we have lost confidence in the ability of the Bank of Canada under its present management to play its proper role in ameliorating and resolving these difficulties."

"Recently public statements by the governor of the Bank of Canada have seriously shaken our faith in the wisdom and competence of the bank's management."

DISTRESSED

"As professional economists we are both puzzled and distressed by the economic reasoning contained in these public statements."

"This reasoning does not appear to us to approach that level of competence which is a necessary foundation for successful central bank policy."

"However, we feel that the policies actually pursued by the Bank of Canada have not displayed sufficient concern for the difficulties and uncertainties of the financial market or sufficient awareness of the true state of the economy in general."

"We address you then, Mr. Minister, to ask that steps should be taken to alter the management of the Bank of Canada."

CCF Backs New Bill In Principle

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr Wednesday unveiled the government's plan for a new and bigger cost-sharing deal with the provinces to bolster vocational training in Canada.

He indicated in the Commons that it would help increase by 50 per cent technical training facilities across the country—new schools with more instructors and better equipment to teach the new know-how of the automation era to unskilled workers.

The only limit on federal funds available for the plan, he said, will be what parliament itself is willing to authorize.

ATTACKED BY MARTIN

The plan—spelled out in detail in an act before the Commons for second reading—was promptly attacked by the lead-off Liberal critic, Paul Martin, who contended it does nothing to ease the immediate unemployment problem facing the government.

Full support of the principle of the bill by the eight CCF members of the House was expressed by J. W. Herdridge (CCF-Kootenay West). Launching the debate at second reading Mr. Starr said:

LABOR MINISTER STARR

"There is an urgent need in the field of technical and vocational training for additional training facilities that is prevalent right across the country. What is contemplated and authorized by this bill is a federal sharing of capital costs for both new buildings and equipment to meet the requirements for increased training."

75 PER CENT COST

The bill provides for agreements with any province that wants to build new technical or vocational schools, with the federal treasury putting up 75 per cent of the capital cost. Under a previous act, the federal aid was limited to 50 per cent.

The plan—Mr. Starr called it a "new approach"—also provides a time limit on the 75-25 formula for cost-sharing, with it expiring March 31, 1963. After the deadline, the federal contribution is to drop back to 50 per cent.

INADEQUATE

Mr. Martin said the bill "contains some commendable features, but is inadequate to deal with the present situation of unemployment."

"What looks like a strong facade consists of nothing more than a few amendments to a measure, the basic concept of which was settled by this Parliament many years ago at a time when we were not confronted, as we are now, with such a high level of unemployment," he said.

CCF SUPPORT

Mr. Herdridge said the CCF group would support the bill as an approach to one segment of the unemployment problem, but suggested that only the experience of the next few years will determine whether the measures are adequate.

Hess, Comrades Released Soon?

BERLIN (AP)—A West Berlin newspaper said Wednesday the remaining three Nazi leaders in the four-power Spandau jail will be released within the next four months.

The Spandauer Volksblatt quoted an unnamed British diplomat as saying the Western powers would negotiate this month with the Russians on the closing of the prison.

Still in the prison are Hitler's former deputy, Rudolf Hess, 67; former Hitler Youth leader Baldur von Shirach, 54, and former armaments minister Albert Speer, 56.

The international war crimes tribunal at Nuernberg sentenced Hess to life imprisonment and the other two to 20 years each.

Anarchy in Congo if UN Pulls Out Security Council Warned by Dag

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld warned the United Nations Security Council Wednesday that the Congo would be plunged into chaos and anarchy if UN forces are withdrawn.

"Everything would crumble," Hammarskjöld said in a vigorous defence of the UN role in the turbulent African republic.

Replying to Soviet criticism that he was a tool of Western imperialism, the secretary-general said he found it difficult to believe that anyone would ask for liquidation of the UN Congo operation "in view of the possible consequences of such a move at the present juncture."

RESUMED SESSION

He spoke at a resumed session of the council after the introduction of rival East-West resolutions on how to deal with the arrest of deposed Congolese premier Patrice Lumumba.

Adding to the tenseness of the situation, some members were withdrawing their support from the UN Congo operation because of dissatisfaction over the recent turn of events.

SHARP DEBATE

Developments at the opening morning session forecasted extended sharp debate before the council reaches the voting stage on the rival proposals.

U.S. delegate James Wadsworth suggested at the outset that Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin, the December council president, disqualify himself from presiding on the ground he is prejudiced.

Zorin refused. He denied that the Soviet Union had a direct role in the Congo and said there was no valid basis for the U.S. request.

The Soviet Union introduced a resolution calling upon Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to obtain the immediate release of Lumumba and other of his associates imprisoned and allegedly subjected to acts of violence by Congolese authorities acting under Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo army strongman.

Hammarskjöld described as "dangerous criticism" talk that the UN Congo operation has failed or is facing failure.

"What is now laid at the doorstep of the United Nations as a failure is the failure of the political leaders of the Congo and of its people to lead international assistance political life within the country to take advantage of the unparalleled for the creation of normal try," he declared.

Ottawa Loser Asks Recount

OTTAWA (CP)—Controller Sam Berger is asking for a recount of votes in Monday's civic elections. In Monday night's count Mayor-elect Charlotte Whitton was given a 1,706 majority over Mr. Berger. Mr. Berger said he was basing his request on the grounds that "too many electors were refused ballots in the election."

The Annual Chance

TODAY is voting day throughout the Greater Victoria area, when citizens have their annual chance to reform municipal councils to their liking. There are enough competing candidates to invite a large turnout.

One would like to think this would be forthcoming, except that the previous ratio of vote casting has been nothing to sing about. Apathy at municipal elections is almost a byword, so that a 50 per cent total vote is deemed to be good. In fact nothing less than 75 per cent should be satisfactory.

Esquimalt is outside the election ring, its candidates having been chosen by acclamation—in this small municipality no great issues ever arise and patently the electors are satisfied—but elsewhere the competition is so keen as to warrant the wide interest of the voters.

No mayoralty contest is due this year in the city, nor are any burning questions of policy at stake, yet the general weal of the central community always demands attention. Voters have been given the compliment of 11 aspirants for four vacant seats, only two of whom are sitting aldermen. It has been pleasing to see the entry of younger business and labor representatives who have answered the challenge to take an active part in civic affairs. The city needs a continuing flow of fresh blood and fresh ideas.

In Saanich, undergoing the growing pains that follow the burgeoning of a municipality from lesser to greater status, there is more diversity of opinion about how municipal matters should be handled. Here too the voters are offered a wide choice. No fewer than 12 candidates seek the three council seats to be filled. A million-dollar sewer bylaw in one part of the district is an additional stimulus for the voters.

Oak Bay, renowned for its quietness on these occasions, runs true to form. Only a single outside entry, seeking to displace one of three sitting councillors, forces an election. There is however the referendum on council indemnities to add a little spice in this area.

In any case, good-level-headed government in all parts of the Greater Victoria community results only when voters show a lively interest in their own public affairs, and the place to demonstrate this interest is at the polls. Citizens who refrain from voting forfeit their right to complain afterwards if events are not to their liking.

That right is too valuable to be lost. Let it be exercised.

Time for Action

THERE is a strong case—in the name of human decency alone—for the United Nations to save Premier Lumumba from his enemies before he becomes a martyr to the impotency of the UN force in Africa and a bloody stain on the pages of Western civilization.

It cannot conveniently be forgotten that UN intervention in the Congo was at the request of Mr. Lumumba, then as now, the legally elected head of the Congolese government.

In answering his appeal, the UN wisely ordered its force not to become involved in the Congo's internal problems but to restrict its action to the maintenance of law and order.

On this basis alone it would appear that the force has the right—without lengthy debate in the General Assembly—to extend its protection to Mr. Lumumba just as, it is hoped, it would have rescued the scores of hapless Belgian women from the rape and torture they endured had it been on the scene in time.

It was, in fact, just such a state of affairs that forced the realization on Mr. Lumumba that he was completely incapable of controlling his own people. The justified opinion that Mr. Lumumba has proven an irresponsible leader and the equally strong view that he has brought much of his suffering upon his own head is not the point.

The point is if the UN force—supposedly the representatives of the highest ideals of civilization abroad in the world—has the moral right to stand by and watch any human being subjected to degradation, torture and eventual death.

Are we as Canadians, with other Canadians serving in the UN force, prepared to occupy a grandstand seat and silently view this return to the dark ages?

If the UN does not intervene, the future will not hold Col. Mobutu and his African savages to blame for this—for they know no better. History will pronounce our Western civilization guilty and its name will be cursed in Africa for ever.

Dazzling Headlights

DURING this Safe Driving Week much has been said about various risky driving practices, but far too little about one of the most dangerous of all: driving with the headlights on high beam.

One cannot do much night driving in this season of early darkness without being struck by the prevalence of carelessness in this respect. On Tuesday night two women were knocked down on the highway by a car whose driver had been blinded by another's headlights.

In municipalities driving with headlights on high beam, besides being an offence punishable by a fine, is almost invariably completely unnecessary. If on a bad or unlighted stretch of road use of the high beam is helpful, the lights should—and must—be dipped the moment there is a possibility of dazzling someone coming from the opposite direction, whether in a car, on a bicycle or on foot. Common courtesy would dictate that even if the law did not.

Since all modern cars are equipped with a telltale to show when the headlights are on high, there is no excuse whatever for anyone driving that way improperly. Failure to notice the indicator betrays inattention and sloppiness; knowingly driving with the lights on high when they should be dipped shows disdain for the law and the safety of others.

A motorist blinded by another's lights should, of course, stop or slow down until the danger is past; but when the other car comes over the brow of a hill, around a bend of corner, or is one of a stream of approaching traffic, it isn't always possible to do that in time to avert an accident.

Interpreting the News

France Facing a Choice

By DAVID ROWNTREE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

"I HAVE taken in the name of France this decision: The Algerians shall have the free choice of their fate."

So spoke Charles de Gaulle in one of his emotion-packed radio broadcasts last January after an unsuccessful European uprising in Algiers to oppose just such a decision.

Nearly a year later, frequent repetitions of this goal, an "Algerian Algeria," have failed to convince the general's enemies of his wisdom.

Talks with the rebel side bogged down. The right-wing continued to mutter about treachery and a sellout. The left chafed under restrictions on civil liberty.

Now President de Gaulle is preparing to put his case to the people by referendum. There is undoubtedly much truth in the opinion of the general's supporters that his plan will prevail with the electorate by dint of his personality; or, as de Gaulle himself expressed it in the same January speech, because of "the national legitimacy that I have embodied for 20 years."

However, there are many in France who believe de Gaulle is not entirely a free agent. There is a conviction that the army has secretly imposed its terms for an Algerian settlement; if de Gaulle goes beyond that, he would have a mutiny on his hands.

The flight from Paris by Pierre Lagailarde and four colleagues involved in previous insurrections against the government in Algiers immediately suggested that the right may be planning to strike at de Gaulle again.

There are many disaffected army men and former high government officials in a mood to do anything to wreck the plans for a referendum, even if they pull down their dream of a "French Algeria" into the dust with them.

If it should come to fighting, de Gaulle could be uncomfortably alone. At home, the army's support is uncertain and the ham-strung parliament is grudging at best.

Overseas, he can count on little sympathy, particularly at the United Nations for which he has frequently expressed his contempt.

The UN debate on Algeria, a hardy annual, comes up this time when it is even less likely than usual to influence French opinion.

Elsewhere, his antagonism to integrated defence arrangements has soured relations with France's allies in NATO. And in the United States, the president-elect's support for the Algerian rebel position is well known. This could prove a worry for Senator Kennedy while the rebels are strengthening their ties with Moscow and Peking.

As in 1958, France seems to be facing a choice between de Gaulle and chaos. And again it could be the army that decides the answer.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

YOUTH and age is represented in the picture this week of President Eisenhower and his successor-elect, who met at the White House to discuss the changeover.

That meeting itself heralded a new era, so marked by comparison with the incoming eight years ago of Mr. Eisenhower. Then it was that the departing president, Mr. Truman, would not see the man who was to take his place or drive in the same car with him.

One could scarcely conceive of such an attitude on the part of President Eisenhower, a conciliator by nature and of a breed fortunately common in Canadian politics. Enmity in the Commons is offset by friendliness outside it, surely a criterion of civilized living.

Mr. Eisenhower and Senator Kennedy are shown heads together in close communion, and the disparity is noticeable. One is the head of a venerable figure, the other, his hair akin to the encroaching mass on the head of Prince Charles, that of an individual from another generation.

Superficially the picture could suggest that a boy is taking over a man's job, but that conclusion would be misleading.

Age in any case is relative, yet the boyish look of Senator Kennedy, even though it may have helped greatly to elect him, is deceiving. As he gets older he may have cause to bless his youthful appearance, it being a point of vanity among men not to look old too soon. Meantime it is perhaps well to remember that no man of 43 years is precisely a boy.

In fact he should be approaching the peak of his powers as a person and as a politician, and the opportunity that opens out before him is very great. Mr. Eisenhower came to his high office as the climax, in a sense the anti-climax, of a career spent in the service of his country. For his successor his real career is only beginning.

Never before perhaps could a change of president be summed up as the replacement of one generation by another. But the youthful-looking senator is of a later vintage and texture and of necessity with an outlook vastly different from that of the man whose place he will fill.

He belongs to the age that has created the grave problems of today, what in summary parlance we call the jet age; it is not inapposite that a representative of that age should be entrusted with the solution of many of its difficulties. He was born to the current era and should have the feel of it in his bones.

Superficially the AP wirephoto makes him appear too boyish, too little-lad like, so that one feels a touch of sympathy for him, for he has many burdens awaiting him. But an inspiring challenge is his to give leadership and pattern to a world anxious that its discords should be ended.

Presidential stature is a matter of growth, and eight years hence we shall see how well the boyish senator has materialized into the presidential man.

One wishes him well, not only for himself but for ourselves, for much that this young man does may affect each one of us. It is a great prize he has won, but it carries vast responsibilities.

Gerald Waring

Reports from Ottawa

JOEL Aldred—known best for telling us on TV that his product is better than Brand X or Car B or Soap C—assumed the role of the reluctant suitor here last week.

In effect, Aldred told the lady's father that while he couldn't afford to marry the girl now, he might be able to in couple of years. So the father should not bestow the damsel on the only man ready to marry her now, name of Spence Caldwell.

Father's decision will be made known later, when the Board of Broadcast Governors will rule on Caldwell's application for permission to form a private TV network to serve the eight private TV stations that will soon be in competition with CBC-TV in the major cities.

Caldwell was the only applicant for the network prize. Five others had been interested earlier but were discouraged by ground rules the BBG laid down in September—especially the BBG's stated preference for a Canadian-owned network using cable or microwave transmission, and "a private company providing the opportunity for participation, without control by affiliated stations."

Caldwell, a dynamic person with an excellent record in the film and broadcasting businesses, proposed a network company that after three years would provide 25 hours a week of programming to affiliated stations via microwave. The company would be capitalized at $1,500,000, with 49 per cent of the stock allocated for purchase by participating stations.

This is the stock split that Caldwell proposed to the eight stations of the Independent Television Organization last summer and they rejected. They tried to chop Caldwell's interest down to a minority, then 25 per cent, then finally 15 per cent with a management contract they could cancel at will.

By their greed the ITO stations made agreement with Caldwell impossible. He went ahead on his own. If he gets the BBG nod for permission to form a network—and it's hard to see how the BBG could withhold that permission—then he will have another try at lining up at least six of the eight stations as the basis for his network. If he gets these six, he will then apply to the BBG for a licence to operate his network.

Caldwell could find himself in the unhappy position of being the only person authorized to form a network, but with no stations willing to join his network. They cannot be compelled to do business with him.

Aldred, president of the Toronto Tely station, CFTO-TV, opposed Caldwell before the BBG on the ground that the ITO stations intend to exchange air-expressed videotapes in lieu, at least for now, of network participation. But later they might want to form a network.

Support for Caldwell came from a rather strange quarter—the CBC. Alphonse Oulmet, CBC president, protested vehemently against the BBG's failure to provide for regulation of tape exchanges on the same basis as network control. Anyone, he said, could have "access to the minds of millions of Canadians... without being responsible to anyone for anything... Carte blanche a la tape," he called it.

If the BBG agrees with the CBC on this, the ITO might be practically forced to do business with Caldwell—an unwilling best man at Caldwell's wedding.

The Packack

High Expectations

By GREGORY CLARK

A FISHERMAN returns time after time, year after year, to the spot where he once caught a good fish; and though he never gets any other there, he always approaches the place with high expectations.

Women are the same about hats. Though there are perhaps 20 shops and hat departments in a 10-acre area of the downtown shopping district where hats of every variety are on display, a woman will remember for years the particular shop, and even the particular counter or the individual sales clerk from whom she got, in 1947, a hat to be remembered.

When you think back over your life, it is astonishing how few are the memorable purchases. I can show you downtown the very spot where once stood a hardware store where I got, in 1912, a two-bladed black-handled pocket knife which I carried every day of my life all over the world until I left it on a rock by the Nipigon River where I was cleaning trout. There is no hardware store now, only a great big office building. I sometimes go and stand across the street and remember buying that knife.

When, a year after I lost it, I returned to the Nipigon, I found the rock. But the knife was gone.

I can understand women going back to the same old hat counter. (Copyright: Canada Wide)

Male's Manor

(From The Toronto Star)

HOME has been under new management these last 25 years. Mother is boss, and Dad is a dog-woodish oaf to be humored and tolerated by spouse and children. So we learn from TV and the funnies.

But the man in the house has at least one right left, namely, ownership of the home, according to the learned (male) judges of the Supreme Court of Canada.

In a three-to-two decision, they ruled last week that, unless a wife makes a financial contribution to obtaining the "matrimonial home," she owns no part of it.

Some suffragette types may bristle at this decision. But women can't have everything. They are crowded men in politics, business, the professions and sports, and racing men for seats in the buses and subway.

The moral for men in this verdict: It's much cheaper to marry a girl than to hire a housekeeper. You save on housekeeper's wages, and after years of tending a home—light jobs, such as rearing the children, preparing meals, washing dishes, cleaning, laundering and so on—she still hasn't earned a legal claim to the family manor.

All of which proves what every man asserts, that housekeeping is a soft touch, not a real job. Any fool can tell you that.

Freedom-Plus

This Unique Family

By EARL ATTLEE, KG, PC, OM, CH

THE Commonwealth of Nations is a unique organization. There has never been anything like it in the history of the world. Never before has an imperial nation voluntarily surrendered its sovereignty and welcomed subject nations as equal partners. Usually, too, in these days of nationalism a subject people moving from colonial status is apt to try to destroy every vestige of the previous regime, as in Indonesia. But this has not been so in the Commonwealth. These former subject nations cherish their connection with their former rulers.

Like the British Empire which it succeeded, the Commonwealth has grown up unplanned and unforeseen. It is a political organization with no written constitution, and in this it follows the example of the oldest member, Great Britain. Every member of the Commonwealth is completely free. I remember Mr. Peter Fraser, as prime minister of New Zealand, pointing out that membership of the Commonwealth was not freedom minus, but freedom plus.

There is no compulsion on any member and there is no constraint on any one of them to continue membership.

When the leading statesmen of the Commonwealth meet together in conference, no votes are taken. There is consultation, and a general view may be arrived at. In this respect it resembles the British cabinet.

At first sight it might seem that the ties which unite the members of the Commonwealth are extremely tenuous. Yet they have stood the strain of two world wars. Membership was originally confined to states where the population, or at least the ruling section of it, was of European stock, but it now embraces states where the rule of Europeans has been replaced by the rule of Africans and Asians. It is therefore worth considering what are the advantages of belonging to the Commonwealth.

Where does the Commonwealth stand today? What, if any, are the practical advantages of belonging to it? The members of the Commonwealth belong to some other organizations, as, for instance, the United Nations, but they are free to act independently. Unlike the satellites of Russia, they do not vote to order, but at the same time joint consultation between them makes them offer a very effective influence.

The advantages may vary for the various members, but I would suggest that one of the advantages is just the sense of belonging, in the same way as one may belong to a family, or even a club or an old boys' association. This sense is naturally very strong among the people of British stock, many of whose immediate forebears lived in Britain. Though devoted to their own countries, they will still feel they belong to the old folks at home, and indeed will talk of Britain as "Home." They are like younger members of a family who have married and set up home elsewhere, but still belong to the family.

I stress this family feeling because it is very important and colors so much of our Commonwealth relations. One might contrast how a difficult matter is dealt with in the United Nations and in a Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference. At the United Nations, speeches are made with results that positions are taken up which are difficult to recede from, and there tends to be an increase of tension and, as it has been described, there are open disagreements openly arrived at.

In a Commonwealth conference the proceedings have no publicity. They are just talks in the family circle. And when very difficult matters of inter-Commonwealth relations come up, they are not discussed formally, but quietly in private talks.

The general rule is that the internal affairs of one dominion are not matters for formal discussion at a Commonwealth conference, but this does not prevent a great deal of useful and constructive work taking place. Formal decisions are not arrived at, but there is a great deal of promotion of mutual understanding.

There is, of course, a constant interchange of information between the various members of the Commonwealth, mainly through the high commissioners, and this can be a much more intimate thing than the relations between ambassadors of foreign countries, however friendly.

The fact that it is possible now for a Commonwealth country to be a republic is very remarkable. It would have been quite unthinkable 50 years ago.

This leads me to a consideration of the value of the monarchy in binding the Commonwealth together. The monarchy is above the party battle. Ministers come and go, but the monarch gives a sense of stability.

In political matters it is, I believe, a mistake to be too logical. Much of our machinery is illogical, but in fact it works.

Years of Recession Are Ahead Unless Cost Spiral Is Reversed

By C. A. CLEMENTS

The economic boom that rose Phoenix-like from the ashes of the Second World War, and stayed aloft for 14 years, has burned itself out.

In trying to keep the dying embers aglow, both the United States and Canada have emerged with huge international payment deficits.

This imbalance had already started when, out of a clear sky, the first Sputnik space vehicle circled the globe, its shock waves to plunge the New York Stock Market into one of its greatest single declines. It advertised to the world that the Soviet Union was not all talk, but was possessed of the skills to implement any program for armed attack or scientific advancement.

Security

People everywhere thought in terms of their own security, and the result was that national and private resources were poured into research and new industrial expansion, much of it unnecessary, and duplicated effort. More and still more aid went abroad in the form of dollar expenditures, some gratuitously, other in self-interest.

At home, overtime work boosted take-home pay, as unemployment went to an all-time low. Interest rates rose; bond values fell, and equity investments boomed. Automation more and more took over; part of the savings went into wage increases which were used as excuses to boost prices still higher. These and service costs spiralled prices to double those of 1935; inflation rolled ahead.

Leisure

Our youth, which has not seen depression or devastation, instead of visualizing the "two chickens in every pot" as did their parents, see only "two cars in every garage," and leisure beyond a hard-worked 32-hour week.

In contrast, the peoples of Europe acclimatized to regimentation during years of war, collectively worked together to rebuild their economies. Territorially contiguous to the Soviet Union with its low standard of living, with memories of what happened in Poland and Hungary, no sacrifice seemed too much to ensure security. Wages had to be kept in line. The average work week was 45 hours. (A haircut in London costs 50 cents; $2 at San Francisco.)

Trade Blocs

To lower unit costs, two large trading areas have been formed within the past three years, one comprising six European countries and known as the "Common Market," and the other, the "Outer Seven." The purpose of which is to eliminate tariffs across their national borders during the next decade, and to present a solid bargaining front in dealing with necessary imports, for all nations have to import to maintain living standards.

Clear Signs

Within a short period, a loose-knit co-operation between the two will emerge, to represent a highly-skilled work force as large as that of either the United States or the Soviet Union, located between the two and, strategically towards Africa. As production integration expands in places best suited, and with free movement of peoples within the areas, unit costs of production, relatively higher than those in the United States, will fall to be highly competitive with North American output, further to endanger the value of the dollar, if inflation is not curbed.

The signs are clear. Foreign governments and their citizens own about $18,000,000,000 of U.S. money, mostly held deposited or invested in the United States. Dollars so held are convertible into gold, and that amount of holding (about half the world's total supply) is enough to drain out all the gold there is in the U.S. Treasury; yet, by law, some $11,500,000,000 must be held intact as backing for part of the money supply in the United States.

No one wants to see a weakened dollar, unless it be the

CANADIAN FORUM

A well-known international economist now living in Victoria, C. A. Clements warns today in "Canadian Forum" that North America, in the grip of a recession, is in real trouble.

Formerly a London insurance underwriter covering world trade credits and later a partner in a New York stock exchange firm, Mr. Clements now makes Victoria his headquarters. He correctly and publicly forecast the bear market of the early 30s, and later, in this newspaper, warned of the recession of 1933, and in 1936, of the recession due in 1937.

Mr. Clements has recently returned from extended visits to countries in Europe, Central America and the United States.

C. A. CLEMENTS

Communists. And experience shows they will stop at nothing to gain their ends of world domination. We have had ample evidence of this recently in Cuba and in the Congo.

From time to time the Soviet Union enters a particular export market in sufficient volume to break prices there, as was the case in India, with crude oil shipments, which had to be met by those who had developed the market. And it would be hard to stop currencies so obtained from being converted into dollars, then to be withdrawn as gold. Normally gold movement is towards areas of higher interest-earning rates.

Lift Burden

The countries of Europe will undoubtedly increase investment of foreign currency income gained from export shipments, in the country of origin, to build local economies, and relieve much of such burden pioneered by the United States; but voluntarily, and not under duress, for they are all very jealous of their own sovereignty.

Fewer Jobs

But who will give away or tie up wealth in face of lowered net income, as we enter a recession period? Employment rates have already started to drop in Europe, partly because American manufacturers are now building compact automobiles which their manufacturers pioneered, thereby cutting their export markets.

Could the present position have been anticipated? Under date of Sept. 30, 1959, a four-page multithreaded analysis of then-current criteria, with a specific recommendation, written by this writer was mailed to 100 individuals, prominent in government, industry, labor and publication services, mostly in the United States. It stated, and I quote therefrom:

Cut Rates

"Reduction in armament and overseas spending will reduce interest rates, make long-term bond financing sound, but will lessen the appeal of equity investment. The necessary rehabilitation of foreign countries has resulted in their holding increased amounts of gold and dollars, currently being loaned or invested in the United States. Once the inflationary trend is definitely halted, there will be a tendency for these funds to be withdrawn, to create a weakening of the dollar in world monetary markets.

"We have the rest of 1959 and probably most of 1960 in which to prepare for what may come. However, because of self-interest, and devil-take-the-hindmost philosophy, we always seem to learn the hard way... during the year 1961 there will appear ample evidence that we will have started on a serious trade recession that could last for several years if not properly handled.

During Strike

"If, as my analysis tends to show, North America is currently riding on the top of an inflation cycle, and therefore cannot afford further cost and price pyramiding, the question is to find what should be done, and do it now, in current management and labor contract negotiations."

That was circulated 14 months ago. Acknowledgments were received directly from the White House, Washington, D.C.; from the British government, among others.

It was written during the period of the 116-day American steel industry strike, which came about because management stated that increases in wages not offset by economies from changes in outmoded work rules would be inflationary, and against the national interest.

And, two weeks after it had started to throw 500,000 workers off the job, the leading company, on July 28, 1959, issued its earning statement for the half year, to show a record net income of over $250,000,000; followed by recommitments from union leaders. Then, as 1960 advanced, orders fell off, until by mid-year over 40 per cent of steel capacity was going unused, to give a very uncertain outlook to national prosperity.

Economic Justice

Incensed, the United Steelworkers Union of America, working through Cope, its publicity instrument, contacted the approximate 60,000 local unions that constituted the AFL-CIO, to demand economic and political justice, by electing Senator John F. Kennedy to the presidency of the United States.

The president-elect is thus in a strong position to demand that costs and prices be held in line, and instruct management to use its excess resources to maintain the economy.

This is the legacy left him by the outgoing administration.

Thetis in Danger

Many ratepayers in Victoria are deeply concerned over the status of that area generally referred to as Thetis Lake Park. It is our misfortune that Thetis is legally only a watershed area and as such can be regarded as a commercial asset. We had evidence of this attitude earlier in the year when the city council sold a portion of this area to the B.C. Electric Company.

For the public, therefore, there will always be the danger of losing the park as a permanent possession, unless steps are taken to have it properly dedicated either as a civic park or as a provincial park.

May we ask the aldermen to give this matter earnest consideration.

National Integrity

Diservice would be rendered if the current trend of anti-Americanism were to gain momentum, for we are mutually bound by scores of "understandings" tacit and otherwise.

Nevertheless, in Canada we are almost unique in our privilege to offer objective comment, such comment emanating from the ability to not only see but "feel" each side of the question. Nor is there the possibility of either neutralism or isolationism in any Canadian.

However, it is our inalienable right to withhold participation in affairs and incidents that might weaken this nation's integrity. Canada is on the map of the world for all to see, hear and inwardly digest, and the latter has been - up to date - universally pleasant to all Canadians have made it so.

Canada and Neutralism

No Canadian will question the right of Mr. Adlai Stevenson to hold and to express his opinion of Canada's stand on neutralism in the world's present embroilment. But Canadians have views and opinions likewise on this vital question. And quite apart from the question of economics, as expressed in "Millions Wasted" on page 6 of Sunday's Colonist, there are angles of deeper moral, ethical, and humanitarian importance to consider.

Canada is a nation of rather limited importance when we consider our 18,000,000 of population alongside 200,000,000 in Russia and 700,000,000 million in China, with many more millions in Asia and Africa, that our possible stand for neutralism joined with that of neutral India, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland and many more certainly would influence.

At the moment it appears to many serious-minded Canadian citizens that for us to take a strong stand for strict and absolute neutralism, strict refusal to accept or take part in "cold" war, and to decline with thanks offers of missiles, of instruction, and of administration from any war adherents, would do much to add to the growing feeling for world disarmament, and for peaceful co-existence.

There's never been a trunk like this before! The sill is up to 10.5 inches lower. Loading's easier than ever. And the new deep well means there's room for tall cargo you used to leave behind.

SAVINGEST SIX EVER

Here's the industry's most popular Six and its traditional economy leader. You'll get Chevy's proven performance from the word "go" — and on regular gas! And there's so much more to be gained from motoring's most refined 6-cylinder design.

SAFETY-MASTER BRAKES

You stop surely and safely with Chevrolet's new giant-sized, Safety-Master brakes — they're air-cooled to prevent fading. And you'll enjoy another measure of Chevrolet economy in the long wearing, bonded brake linings.

5 TRANSMISSIONS

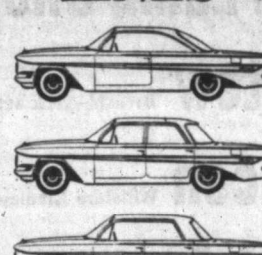

Silk-smooth, dependable and top performing every mile of the way. Combined with Chevy's variety of engines, they give you an amazing choice of twenty-four power teams.

NEW CLEAN-SWEEP WINDSHIELD WIPERS

Distinctive ROOF LINES

STORAGE SPACE

There's up to 97.5 roomy cu. ft. for cargo in the station wagons. With tailgate down you have a long 10 feet of load length. And a new concealed compartment under the rear platform.

UNISTEEL CONSTRUCTION

Rigid roof, body and floor panels are welded together. You get a unit that'll stay tight, solid and quiet for years to come. And there's extra safety for you and your family, too!

MAGIC-MIRROR FINISH

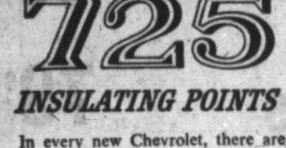

It's easier than ever to take a shine to Chevrolet! You'll keep Chevrolet's showroom shine with little more than a wash. And you can choose from 15 solid colors (9 of them totally new) and a wide range of two-tone combinations.

FULL COIL RIDE

With a deep-coil spring at every wheel, Chevrolet gives you a ride that's amazingly smooth and quiet. You'll find it's the one great ride in its field.

725 INSULATING POINTS

In every new Chevrolet, there are over 725 insulating and cushioning points. And every one utilizes carefully tested sound and vibration deadening materials to assure you of the most effective possible dampening action.

BALL-RACE STEERING

Chevrolet's the easiest, most precise handling full-size car on the road. You'll find the almost frictionless Ball-Race steering gear makes driving a fingertip effort.

5-POSITION IGNITION

Here's an all-new convenience feature... a new "Accessory" position added to your ignition switch lets you operate radio, heater, and directional signals with the car's ignition system off.

Co-existence Is the Line

Two Red Giants Stress Solidarity At Moscow Rally

MOSCOW (UPI)—Chinese Communist President Liu Shao-chi told a Sino-Soviet friendship rally yesterday his government supports Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plan for peaceful co-existence with the West.

Liu, a Moscow-trained theoretician who also is vice-chairman of the central committee of the Chinese Communist party, said China advocates a peaceful foreign policy and that no force can undermine Sino-Soviet solidarity.

Such friendship rallies at Lenin Stadium usually are accorded heads of state visiting the Soviet Union. This one lived up to its name; at the end of Liu's hour-long speech he and Soviet president Leonid Brezhnev embraced, kissed each other on the cheek and smiled.

EMBRACE, KISS

The two leaders also embraced and kissed following a 23-minute speech by Brezhnev in which he quoted an earlier speech by Premier Khrushchev: "Any imperialist attack against People's China will be considered an attack against our country."

Brezhnev also promised Liu that the "stinking corpse" of Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek soon will be removed from the United Nations.

NIKITA ABSENT

Khrushchev did not attend the rally nor a series of receptions for the visiting leader. His wife, Nina, told visitors he is confined to his home with a "touch of influenza."

"The imperialists headed by the United States are madly continuing an arms drive," Liu said. "But the forces of socialism will suppress the forces of imperialism... it will be possible to frustrate imperialism and prevent war."

Double-Death Trial Planned

William John Stewart, 47, of Kemp Lake Road, Sooke, was remanded for formal commitment to higher court on a charge of criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle, when he appeared Tuesday in Colwood police court.

Charge followed the death, Oct. 21 on Sooke Road, of brothers Jack and Tom Cameron, of Colwood.

The Camerons had taken a wrecker from the Colwood Royal Service Station, operated by Jack Cameron, to move from a ditch a car owned by Gerald J. Van Humbeck, Sooke logger.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A surprise delegation of about 100 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, arrived in Vancouver Tuesday night to say goodbye to Stefan Sorokin, their spiritual leader. Sorokin was to leave for his home in Uruguay.

China Trade $10,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has sold $10,897,000 worth of goods in combined trade with Communist and Nationalist China in the first 10 months of 1960, the government said Wednesday.

The principal products sold to Communist China were aluminum and chemical products, with wood pulp the major export to the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa.

'Tigress' Callas Cheered Wildly As Exile Ended

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—Tempestuous Maria Callas ended 30 months of exile from La Scala opera house last night with a comeback appearance in Donizetti's "Polliuto" that earned wild applause and a few hisses.

It was her first appearance at La Scala since 1958 when she broke with the management in a series of temperamental differences over when and where the "tigress of the opera" should sing.

NOT AT BEST

She received eight curtain calls after the first act, and many cheers for her main first act aria, but some veteran opera-goers said her voice was not in its best form.

After the second act, five photographers climbed onstage to snap celebrities in nearby boxes and she interrupted one of eight more curtain calls to shove them angrily offstage. This and scattered jeering to the end of the opera made it less than a triumphal return.

TENSION GREW

Tension grew as tenor Franco Corelli sang through the opening scenes. Then Miss Callas stepped dramatically onstage with a gesture that looked almost like a challenge—she stopped, waiting until the audience reacted with a wave of cheers.

In a proscenium box on the left side of the stage Princess Grace of Monaco waved encouragement.

In the audience was Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis whose name has been linked with the Diva's recently.

Train, Truck

Crash, Blast Kills Six, 30 Injured

NASHUA, N.H. (AP)—A commuter train travelling at 70 miles an hour plowed into a bottled gas truck at a railroad crossing Wednesday, killing six persons, including an entire family of four.

More than 30 of the 50 passengers aboard the Boston-bound train were injured.

The collision set off a series of deafening explosions that blew the small truck to bits and started a fire that raced through the single-car self-propelled train.

The victims included the truck driver, his wife and two infant children.

Passengers on the flame-filled train screamed in terror as the car hurtled more than a quarter of a mile down the tracks before the engineer stopped it.

Black Gives Sharp Reply To Criticism

Criticism of the B.C. girls' industrial school by a new CCF member of the legislature drew a sharp retort by Social Welfare Minister Wesley Black yesterday.

"I am certain that the sweeping denunciation of the girls' industrial school by a junior member of the opposition will cause more distress to his fellow party workers than to officials of the B.C. government," said Mr. Black in answer to charges made by Dr. J. Barrett, CCF, Dewdney.

Mr. Black quoted a report of the juvenile delinquency inquiry board praising the government for improving standards in the facilities and programs instituted.

Kennedy His Own 'State Secretary'

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Kennedy's side during the news conference, said he thought it likely that in a sense the new reformed liberal, crew-cut Rep. Stewart Udall, three years his junior and the first Arizonan ever to serve in a cabinet.

Kennedy and Udall immediately called for a crash program to expand the nation's recreational facilities, which are being rendered inadequate by the population explosion.

The president-elect said he still was giving serious consideration to appointments of next week, following Parliament's amendments to the National Housing Act, Public Works Minister Walker said.

Udall, 40, who stood at Kennedy's side during the news conference, said he thought it likely that in a sense the new reformed liberal, crew-cut Rep. Stewart Udall, three years his junior and the first Arizonan ever to serve in a cabinet.

Housing Rules In Effect Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation offices across Canada should be ready to put new regulations into effect early next week, following Parliament's amendments to the National Housing Act, Public Works Minister Walker said.

Kennedy disclosed that he has several "task forces" at work gathering information for him in key areas of United States concern. One, he said, is looking into problems affecting the national economy.

Kennedy said he had not yet managed to decide whether he would ask his brother, Robert, to join his possible appointee as attorney-general, Robert, who general.

'Hymie The Mink,' Furrier Set Up Denver Promotion

WASHINGTON — Battle-scarred Carmen Basilio, former middleweight champion, veteran manager Jack Kearns and Herman "Hymie the Mink" Wallman, another manager, all testified yesterday in the U.S. Senate investigation of boxing.

They've lost twice and have to hope that unbeaten Tony Gutoski will lose at least two of his remaining three games but skip Eric Bullock, lead Wally Barkley, second Ron Jacob and vice-skip Morley MacDonald were smiling before and after last night. After posing for picture, they went out and balanced their record with a 12-3 win over Gerry Walls in playdowns at the Victoria Curling Club which are the first step in the provincial playdowns. — (Colonist photo.)

Five in Row for Gutoski Hayhurst Rink Wins Too

Tony Gutoski, Steve Hayhurst, Gordie Moore, Larry Marshall, Eric Bullock, Bill McLean, Gerry Walls, Sam Rychert.

Tony Gutoski last night retained his lead in the round-robin playdowns to decide the rink which will represent the Victoria Curling Club in the provincial championships.

Piling up a big early lead, Gutoski measured Bill McLean, 12-7, to mark up his fifth straight victory.

Steve Hayhurst and Gordie Moore, Gutoski's closest pursuers, had a bit more difficulty. Hayhurst started home one down before finally measuring Elmer Hoffman, 8-7, while Moore lost an extra-end battle to Larry Marshall's rink, playing with three men and with Bob McIntosh on the tee-head.

Hayhurst stole one on the 10th end to pull even at 6-6, got a big break when Hoffman missed a chance for two on the 11th by being a bit heavy with a free draw which pushed his shot rock back too far to count. Coming home, Hayhurst got his chance when an opposing rock came to rest about three feet in front of the rings and vice-skip Jim Dickson was able to draw behind for one. Hayhurst put his first rock in for two, also behind the guard, and didn't have to throw his last stone when Hoffman was a trifle heavy and rubbed to wind up third rock.

ELIMINATED
In the other men's game, Eric Bullock eliminated Gerry Walls from further contention with a 12-3 win. Walls has lost four times.

Easily the most interesting game was the Marshall-Moore tussle. Moore went four up by counting four on the seventh end, then started the 11th three up when he came through with two fine shots on the 10th to count two after McIntosh tried to pull the end out with two great draws.

STOLE ONE
McIntosh got two on the 11th, stole one on the 12th and won it on the 13th with a fine raise past a guard which pushed his front-foot rock to the edge of the four-foot. Moore wrecked trying to make a draw.

The four ladies' rinks played their second-round matches and Kay Trevelyan went to the front with a second win by trimming Betty Stubbs, 12-4. Miss Trevelyan's rink of Claire Duncan, Mary Wilkinson and Marian Bateman came up with a steady game to assure nothing worse than a tie in the round-robin.

Flora Martin brought her record to 1-1 with an 11-6 win over Vi Leroy. Mrs. Martin and Miss Trevelyan play in the final round and Miss Stubbs, also 1-1, meets Miss Leroy. It sets up a possible three-way tie but a win for Miss Trevelyan ends it.

FAMOUS BRIDGE
World's longest covered bridge, the 1,282-foot wooden span over the Saint John River at Hartland, N.B., was constructed in 1897 and rebuilt in 1920.

He testified that he had told a New York Grand Jury in 1958 that underworld boxing czar Frankie Carbo was the "whole boss" of lightweight-champion Joe Brown.

Wallman also told investigators that Denver promoter Joe Dupler paid Carbo $5,000 to set up a title bout between Brown and challenger Orlando Zulueta, held in Denver on June 19, 1957, and won by Brown with a 15th-round knockout.

Wallman said he told Carbo that Dupler was interested in staging a rematch and that Carbo replied "Well, let the furrier pay for it."

Dupler is a Denver furrier.

TURNED IT OVER
Wallman said Dupler agreed to pay and authorized him to pick up the money from Dupler's account with the Hudson Bay Fur Co. in New York. Wallman further testified that he turned the money over to Murray "Tex" Pette, a fight manager and close associate of Carbo.

Wallman also said that Carbo decided who would be the opponent for featherweight like Chesnut in a Madison Square Garden bout on March 7, 1958.

He said that Billy Brown, Garden matchmaker, told him "you're going to fight Harold Gomes because Frank Carbo wants it that way."

'HAD A PIECE'
In further testimony, Wallman disclosed that Carbo "had a piece" of former lightweight champion Jimmy Carter as well as complete control of Brown and that Carbo's close friend, Gabe Genovese, "had a piece" of Basilio.

Wallman described James D. Norris, former president of the defunct International Boxing Club, as "the big boss with the money" and Carbo as the "small boss" with "the contracts and the influence."

THROUGH CARBO
Wallman, who managed Zulueta, said he was able to match Randy Sandy with middleweight contender Joey Giardello through Carbo. Tony Gerrante, Giardello's manager, has also been described as friendly with Carbo.

Basilio spoke in contemptuous terms of Carbo, Frank

Lobodia, single and with a summer job with the department of fisheries, is anxious to play professional hockey.

"I think he'll help us," Agar said. "He is a tough-minded type who will hand out some sock."

Lobodia will be flown here for tomorrow's game against Winnipeg Warriors if Wayne North's ankle injury doesn't permit him to play. If North can play tomorrow, Lobodia will join the Cougars for their Tuesday in Calgary.

NO NAMES, PLEASE
Agar declined to name the forward he had in mind, except to say that he is young and that his Okanagan Hockey League record indicates he may be ready to step up.

As for Wright, who had previously decided to stay with his sporting goods business in Grande Prairie, Alta., negotiations were reopened after Sunday's game at Seattle. And it appears the veteran, who played here last season, is weakening.

"It's 15 below zero back there," Agar said, "and when I told him some of the boys were out playing golf and others had gone fishing I could almost hear him start thinking."

Definite word from Wright was to be forthcoming within the next day or two.

Coach Back With Bumper
Coach George Agar returned from a flying trip to the Okanagan yesterday, and he didn't come back quite empty-handed.

On a search for playing help for his Victoria Cougars, Agar came to terms with defenceman Ted Lobodia, had a look at a high-scoring forward he feels ready to change in the Western Hockey League and also brought back word that the "renewed hope" that defenceman Pete Wright will end his retirement in a few days.

Lobodia, a rough and ready 200-pounder, played for Agar at Vernon for two years and has been with the Kamloops Chiefs for the past three seasons. He was used several seasons back by New Westminster Royals in WHL playdowns and acquitted himself well.

sive effort Tuesday. They checked closely, but never really got their scoring power untracked. Goalie Claude Evans had to make 36 saves compared to 26 by Harry Lumley for the Warriors.

Dave Duke scored both Canucks' goals, the first from Murray Wilkie and Ralph Keller at 9:07 of the first period, and the second from Wilkie and Orland Kurtenbach at 17:49 of the second.

Gord Redahl finally beat Evans in the opening minute of the third period on a shot from the blue line, and veteran Nick Mickoski scored on a backhand drive at the six-minute mark. In the overtime play, Evans blocked four shots and Lumley three.

NOT ENOUGH
At Calgary, a superlative effort by goalie Dennis Riggins wasn't enough for the third-place Flyers. Riggins blocked 50 shots, 22 in the third period.

With Stampede ahead, 3-0, Don Poile and Ray Brunel scored 53 seconds apart in the third period to make it 3-2. But Gord Veljprava scored for Stampede after Lou Jankowski intercepted a pass-out.

Jankowski's assist kept him a single point ahead of linemate Ron Leopold in the league scoring derby. Earlier he had scored his 21st goal to move into a tie.

Gerry Esch scored on a clever play with rookie linemates John Koslanec and Cliff Bristow late in the first period to give Stampede a 1-0 lead. In the second period Veljprava teamed with Bill Burega to set up Jankowski's goal, and Willy Hergesheimer made it 3-0 early in the third.

At Portland, Arnie Schmutz, Art Jones and Larry Leach each scored once and Gord Sinclair got Seattle's goal in the second period. Rookie goalie Don Head blocked 25 shots.

Schmutz picked up a loose puck to score late in the first period, and Jones made it 2-0 before Sinclair beat Head. Leach scored in the third when Bev Bentley slipped to the ice and left an open net for a goal.

Canucks, Warriors In Overtime Draw; Stamps Trip Flyers

Vancouver Canucks, who were beginning to look like the untouchable ruling class in the Western Hockey League, are mere mortals after all. They proved it in Winnipeg last night, where they blew a 2-0 lead and had to settle for a 2-2 overtime tie against a team they shut out, 3-0, Tuesday night. Result was they lost a point in their fight to overhaul Calgary Stampede, who beat Edmonton, 4-2, to increase their lead to two points.

In last night's other game, Portland Buckaroos moved into a fourth-place tie with Seattle by downing the Totems, 3-1, in Portland.

Canucks slumped noticeably last night after their impressive effort Tuesday. They checked closely, but never really got their scoring power untracked. Goalie Claude Evans had to make 36 saves compared to 26 by Harry Lumley for the Warriors.

Dave Duke scored both Canucks' goals, the first from Murray Wilkie and Ralph Keller at 9:07 of the first period, and the second from Wilkie and Orland Kurtenbach at 17:49 of the second.

'Boom Boom' Fifth Among Top Scorers

two goals while Montreal Canadiens coasted to a 6-2 victory over the crippled Maple Leafs at Toronto.

The goals were No. 270 and 271 for the 29-year-old Geoffrion, whose 11-year career with the Canadiens has been so checked with injuries that only once did he play a full 70-game season. That was in 1954-55, when he won the league scoring title with 75 points.

Off to his fastest start since then, Geoffrion currently leads the point race with 41, including 17 goals. Teammates Dickie Moore, scored his 23rd goal last night, and Jean Beliveau each have 37.

With the two goals Geoffrion passed Aurel Joliat and his late father-in-law, Howie Morenz, who both had 270 goals.

Still ahead of him are Maurice Richard, greatest scorer of them all with 554; Gordie Howe with 451, Ted Lindsay with 365, and Nels Stewart with 324. Beliveau is the closest of the active players to Geoffrion with 254 goals.

NO MATCH

Leafs, minus Tim Horton, Carl Brewer, Ron Stewart and Larry Regan, were no match for the Canadiens, who skated to their sixth straight victory behind steady goaltending by a well-protected Charlie Hodge. To make matters worse for Leafs, Allan Stanley received a 25-stitch cut in the right cheek from Billy Hicke's skate during a first-period collision and didn't get back until late in the game.

X-rays taken immediately after the game revealed that Stanley's jaw was broken.

SCORES TWICE

Jean-Guy Gendron scored twice for Canadiens, bringing his point total to three goals and four assists in four games since coming to the Habs from Boston. Henri Richard got the other goal, and Bert Olmstead and Eddie Shack tallied for Toronto. Big Frank Mahovlich was held to one assist.

Meanwhile, Detroit Red Wings stayed within five points of the Habs with a 3-1 victory over New York that was a serious setback to Rangers' hopes of a playoff spot. They had won four and tied one of their last seven games.

Victory was the fourth in four games over Rangers for goalie Hank Bassen, who continued to jinx winger Andy Bathgate, stopping him twice from close in.

Alex Delvecchio scored twice, his 14th and 15th goals of the season, and Allan Johnson once for the Wings. Andy Bathgate scored his 11th for Rangers on a second-period power play.

Burnley Beats Brentford, 2-1

LONDON (Reuters) — Burnley, English Soccer League champions, beat Brentford, a third division team, 2-1, at Burnley Tuesday night in a third round replay of the Football League Cup competition.

In the fourth round, Burnley will play Nottingham Forest at home.

Braves Get Frank Bolling Trade Bruton, Three More

ST. LOUIS — Major league baseball's second big trade was announced on Wednesday, Milwaukee Braves apparently ending their second-base defensive problem by getting defensive-whizz Frank Bolling from Detroit Tigers.

To get the 29-year-old Bolling, who batted only .254 last season, the Braves gave up center-fielder Bill Bruton, second-baseman Chuck Cottier, catcher Dick Brown and rookie pitcher Terry Fox. An unnamed minor league player will go to the Braves along with Bolling.

Bruton, a 31-year-old south-paw swinger, was the key man for the Braves. He batted .286 last season. Included in his hits were 27 doubles, 13 triples and 12 home runs and he batted in 54 runs and stole 22 bases. A fine defensive player, Bruton is an ideal leadoff hitter.

Cottier is in the good-field, no-hit category, but at 24, some observers feel that he will improve at the plate. He batted only .227 in 95 games this past season.

Brown was purchased only a short while back from Chicago White Sox, for whom he batted .163 in 16 games. Fox is a righthanded reliever who got into five games for the Braves at the end of the 1960 season.

Last Saturday, in the first big deal, San Francisco Giants gave up southpaw Johnny Antonelli and outfielder Willie Kirkland to get outfielder Harvey Kuenn from Cleveland Indians.

There were reports of other deals in the making, and of several that were turned down by one or the other of the two negotiating clubs.

New York Yankees, who earlier refused to let catcher John Blanchard go for Antonelli, yesterday refused to trade away catcher Elston Howard. The Los Angeles Dodgers offered southpaw Johnny Podres, outfielder Duke Snider and another player but the Yankees have made it clear that it would take something extraordinary before they would trade either of their two fine receivers. But they are continuing talks with the Dodgers.

"UNTOUCHABLES"

The Dodgers have also been trying to deal with the Tigers, who at first seemed agreeable to trading outfielder Rocky Colavito for outfielder Don Demeter, infielder Bob Lillis and catcher John Roseboro. Then Colavito was tabbed as one of four Detroit "untouchables," along with pitchers Jim Bunning and Frank Lary and outfielder Al Kaline.

Outfielder Jim Lemon of the Minnesota Twins, another righthanded power-hitter who should find the short leftfield fence at Los Angeles Coliseum to his liking, is also being sought by the Dodgers.

Another report had it that the Yankees might consider a trade which would send southpaw Whitey Ford to St. Louis Cardinals for righthander Larry Jackson.

Stengel to Manage? Haney Second Harp

ST. LOUIS—Los Angeles was admitted as the 10th club in the American League yesterday, and owners of the new franchise made it plain they want Casey Stengel to handle the club in 1961.

Decision to let in the new club, to be known as the Angels, was made at a joint meeting of the major leagues and ended several months of inter-league bickering. At the same meeting, the National League was given permission to move into New York in 1962.

Walter O'Malley, president of Los Angeles Dodgers, waived a new rule that prohibits a new club from playing in a stadium within five miles of the other club in a two-team city to clear the way for the franchise. New York Yankees waived a similar rule in the American League for 1962, allowing the new National League team to play at the Polo Grounds or Yankee Stadium.

As part of the compromise with O'Malley, Angels will play their 1961 schedule in 20,500-seat Wrigley Field, and thereafter become a tenant in O'Malley's $15,000,000 Chavez Ravine stadium for at least the following four seasons. No rental figures were announced.

Both the Angels and the new Washington club will select players from the American League's 120-man talent pool at a meeting in Boston next Tuesday. Each club must take 28 men at $75,000 each.

Angel co-owners Gene Autry and Bob Reynolds were definite that the club wants Stengel to manage in 1961. Stengel himself is undecided, but will meet Autry and Reynolds in a few weeks to give his final decision. Some sources believe Stengel will stay in the game, joining ex-Milwaukee boss Fred Haney to run the new Los Angeles entry. Haney already has been put in charge of procuring players.

Jets Key to Expansion

Hong Kong in PCL?

VANCOUVER (CP)—President Dewey Soriano of the Pacific Coast Baseball League believes that Manila, Tokyo, Singapore, Hong Kong, Yokohama and Mexico City will all be league members within 10 years.

He said in an interview here the decision of Honolulu to enter the league will spark a boom around the Pacific rim that could see the other cities follow suit.

Honolulu's entry is the only big move in organized baseball in 60 years, Soriano said. Ten years from now there can be a world series that is a world series.

He said the key to it all is jet travel. "They have planes on the drawing boards now that will move people twice as fast as present jets."

Hockey Coach Wanted Pay: 10,000 Zlotys

TORONTO (CP) — Polish hockey coach Ted Dolewski has arrived here in search of an experienced Canadian to take on a three-year coaching stint in Poland.

He is offering three seven-month stints at "about" 10,000 zlotys each, plus $300 per month. Explaining the offer, Dolewski said a Polish worker lives on 1,000 zlotys a month and an engineer on 4,000.

The official rate of exchange on the zloty is about four to the dollar, but the tourist rate is 24 to the dollar. So far there have been no takers, but Bob Pulford, centre with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, has said he would be willing to handle some hockey clinics in Poland this summer.

Dolewski, a veteran centre of several Polish Olympic squads and coach of the first division Legia of Warsaw, will stay in Toronto five weeks studying hockey techniques.

He has seen NHL games at New York, Chicago and Toronto. He also attends practices of junior, senior, and NHL clubs.

Junior hockey is better than he expected, but the National League is "out of this world," he said.

Dolewski, a professor of gymnastics in Warsaw, said hockey interest in Poland runs high with 24 teams in a national league.

There are six artificial all-year rinks in Poland and three more to be opened this season, he said.

The 41-year-old Pole is paying for most of the trip himself, although he represents the Polish Ice Hockey Association.

COOPER WINS

LONDON (AP) — British heavyweight champion Henry Cooper, blood streaming from his face, survived a last round knockdown Tuesday night and was awarded a 10-round decision over Argentina's Alex Mitiff.

Plea Reversed By Victorian In Cigaret Theft

Ronald Morry, 595 Gorge, committed for trial in higher court Nov. 29 on a charge of breaking, entering and theft, pleaded guilty before Judge J. B. Clearihue in County Court yesterday.

He was remanded to today for sentence.

His brother Frederick and Patricia Joseph, both of 723 Yates, who pleaded guilty, were sentenced in city police court. Frederick Morry, with a record of previous convictions, was sent to prison for two years. Miss Joseph was jailed for two months.

When Ronald Morry pleaded not guilty Magistrate William Ostler, having read a probation report on the girl in which he was mentioned, declared the trial a preliminary hearing.

Police said the three took 20 packages of cigarettes Nov. 24 from Mal's Cafe, 2251 Government.

Two men pleaded guilty in city court to driving while impaired.

Charles G. White, 3369 Cook, whose car was in collision Tuesday while turning at Douglas and Frances, was given a 20-day jail term. It was his second conviction.

Gordon Cockcroft, 2875 Glen Lake, was driving a car that climbed onto a boulevard on Pembroke, then crossed the street and struck a power pole. He was fined $250.

A four-month jail term was given David Russell, 22, of 1411 Mitchell, for taking a car without the owner's consent. A previous record, said the magistrate, made probation impossible.

Arthur LaPlante, 904 Caledonia, was fined $100 for pouring syrup into the gas tank of a truck owned by Douglas Ferny. LaPlante told police he did it "to have a laugh on Ferny."

In Colwood court, David William Kirkham, 20, HMCS Beacon Hill, was fined $50 for being a minor in possession of liquor. Philip Alan Desjardins, also of Beacon Hill, was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place.

Also at Colwood Ernest Carson, 3186 Ayton Place, was fined $10 for failing to have a licence on his dog.

Winnipeg Blizzard Takes Toll in Hearts

WINNIPEG (CP)—Police said Monday's blizzard was likely responsible for eight deaths in the city.

Two persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and a third died while pushing a car stuck in snow. Police blamed other types of over-exertions for the remaining deaths.

Now—a diet plan you can stick to!

the new sustaining meal that you drink.
Lets you lose pounds quickly and safely while satisfying your appetite!

WITH MinVitine, developed by scientists at the famous Ovaltine Laboratories, you can lose unwanted pounds. Read how you achieve the weight you want without counting calories, while helping to maintain your health and satisfying your appetite!

Almost any diet plan can take off weight, but if you have ever tried to diet, you know that staying with the plan is the big problem. The scientists at the Ovaltine Laboratories were aware of this—so as specialists in nutrition, they developed this remarkable new diet food—MinVitine. It gives you satisfying nourishment at your regular meal times, yet cuts down on weight-building calories. In fact, MinVitine furnishes only 900 calories per day!

MinVitine comes in a jar which contains enough for three meals and a bedtime snack. MinVitine is more than just an appetite appeaser, different from a "bulk without nourishment" food. You simply mix it with cold water, making a delicious drink with a texture much like a malted milk. This is your MinVitine "meal", one that contains only 225 calories, yet supplies you with minerals and vitamins and the nourishment you need while on your diet plan.

You'll be delighted to see how quickly and steadily you lose weight when you use MinVitine according to directions. And you'll find it's easy to stay on your MinVitine Diet Plan because it helps satisfy your appetite. When you have achieved the weight-level you want, it's simple to stay there. Continue MinVitine by using the plan one or two days a week.

Naturally, it's wise for anyone who is dieting, or considering it, to keep in touch with his physician. Today, more and more people are turning to diets which help maintain good nutritional health, like the MinVitine Plan, under the guidance of their doctors.

You'll find new MinVitine at food and drug stores. It comes in three delicious flavors—chocolate, butterscotch and wonderful new coffee! Look for it. MinVitine is the diet plan you can stick to. You know it's good because it comes from the makers of Ovaltine!

Why Do Poor Remain Poor?

Old Excuses No Longer Apply

VANCOUVER—A committee will seek the reasons why chronically poor families remain so from generation to generation. The committee, first of its kind in North America, was appointed at a UBC social science seminar.

Dr. Joseph Lagey, research director of the Greater Vancouver Community Chest, said past reasons for chronic poverty no longer apply.

"They are no longer exploited. They have equal educational opportunities yet they remain poor in good and bad times," he said. The study will begin immediately and continue for several years.

TOKYO—Hayato Ikeda, 60, whose Liberal-Democratic party was swept back to power in recent elections, was re-elected premier after a three-day constitutional crisis.

CHICAGO — The Chicago Sun-Times says Arkansas Democratic Sen. William Fulbright will be John Kennedy's secretary of state. Republican Thomas Gates will stay as defence secretary. Republican Douglas Dillon treasury secretary. Attorney-general will be Kennedy's brother Robert or Denver lawyer Byron (Whizzer) White. Kennedy has asked Cardinal Cushing of Boston to give the invocation at his inauguration.

WASHINGTON — Father Martin Casey, pastor of a suburban Roman Catholic church, today will christen John Kennedy Jr. in Georgetown University Hospital chapel.

LONDON — Reports say David Ormsby-Gore, 42, minister of state at the foreign office, may become Britain's next ambassador to the U.S.

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Dr. Albert Sabin, who developed a new oral polio vaccine, warned the U.S. faces "many hundreds" of unnecessary deaths next summer because of a delay in providing the serum to the public.

LONDON — Socialite Mrs. Michael Lewis apologized to her host for being late to a party, explaining her chauffeur "lost his cap, and I had to come by taxi."

LONDON — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived from Paris for Christmas shopping. An informant said they also were on a hush-hush mission in search of jewels stolen from them in 1945.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — "Dancing Dotty" Ferragamo, 34, who irked her neighbors by performing ballet in a bikini in her backyard while a hi-fi blared, has escaped jail for disturbing the peace. Mrs. Ferragamo appealed a 90-day jail term and an appeal court fined her $10.

SEATTLE — Guy Rockwell was flown back from New York and booked at the Seattle police station on a grand larceny charge.

NEW WESTMINSTER — Louis Joseph, 73, patient at the mental hospital at Esson-dale since 1930, was killed by a CPR train as he stood by the track at an intersection leading to the hospital's farm.

ELIZABETH, N.J. — The car of a key government witness in the jailing last summer of a tax evader was ruined by an explosion which police said was caused by a "bomb." William Hillbrant, treasurer of a printing firm, was not hurt.

LONDON — Justice Pilcher did not indicate whether he was annoyed or his pride was hurt when he had to interrupt court proceedings to have a snoring woman led from her seat.

SAINT JOHN, N.B. — Andre Javoresik, 46, Budapest native and Canadian resident for 12 years, plans a third ocean-crossing attempt in a 26-foot sailboat he is making of driftwood.

TORONTO — The editor of the United Church Observer says freedom is dead in Cuba and elections promised by President Castro are not likely to be held. Rev. A. C. Forrest spoke after a tour of Cuba for a U.S. church publication.

LONDON, Ont. — Baptist pastor Rev. Martin Wedge has protested planned appearance here Jan. 2 of the bare-bosomed Les Ballets Africains.

Canada Clear Of Cattle Plague

TORONTO (CP) — An official of the Meat Packers Council of Canada said Monday there has been no known case of hoof and mouth disease in Canada recently. Ken Graydon was commenting on a report from Britain that the disease has spread throughout the country in the last month.

White, Colored Churchmen Together in South Africa

Death to Federation Negro Leaders Cry

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Delegates gathered here yesterday for the opening of one of the most important church meetings ever held in Africa—a multi-racial conference of the world Council of Churches. Racial segregation—mandatory under South African law—was not enforced among the delegates for the first time since various council meetings started in South Africa in 1953.

"We are all living, eating and sleeping together," said one delegate. During eight days of study and discussion, 87 Protestant delegates from South Africa and abroad including 24 non-whites—will try to find a common ground on the racial issue.

LONDON (Reuters) — Dr. Hastings Banda, militant Negro nationalist leader from Nyasaland, Wednesday spearheaded an attack on the white-governed Central African Federation with a "death to federation" speech at the British government's constitutional conference.

He was joined by two Negro nationalists from Northern Rhodesia—Kenneth Kaunda and Harry Nkumula—in demands for a breakup of the federation of Northern

Experts Trying To Fathom Forest Burners

Pity poor Human Being, but the forest fire prevention experts said here yesterday he once again needs to be studied.

George Zapettini, Nevada state forester, said at a convention of 500 foresters at the Empress Hotel that it must be found out why man is careless in the woods—with matches, cigarette butts and campfires.

"We must also find out what kind of carelessness is most common and how we can reach him with appropriate information," he said at a meeting of the Western Fire Research Committee, held in conjunction with the convention of the Western Forestry Conference.

PROTECTED FROM AIR

Aircraft protected 150,000 miles of Alberta timberlands from fires last year, said E. S. Huestis of that province's department of lands and forests.

Harry B. Forse, chief of the B.C. Forest Service's protection division, said industries and public agencies have developed a tendency to substitute heavy fire-fighting equipment for less dramatic and usually more effective techniques.

He said the availability of mechanical gadgets is shifting the emphasis in fire control from prevention to suppression. And in the past three years suppression costs have turned out to be a real burden on the industry—$1 per 1,000 board feet of production.

EYES IN SKY

Roger B. Robinson, bureau of land management at Anchorage, said "eyes-in-the-sky" are replacing conventional lookout stations in the 49th state.

Patrol ships, helicopters and aerial tankers have been used to control forest fires in Alaska's 225,000,000 acres of timberland.

Jailed Reeve Couldn't Run Gets New Term Anyhow

ALLISTON, Ont. (CP)—Reeve John Williams, who didn't qualify for the 1960 reevehip before the official deadline because he was in jail, will be reeve again next year anyway.

Reeve Williams was arrested by Barrie police Nov. 22 while on his way home from a session of Simcoe County Council and was charged with drunk and careless driving following an accident.

He couldn't get bail in time to get to Alliston before the 9 p.m. deadline for qualifications.

Since nobody else was nominated at the Nov. 22 meeting, the office was declared vacant by the town clerk and a second nomination meeting was held. Reeve Williams was acclaimed when no one was nominated to oppose him.

EATON'S Store

More of Everything

Well, here we are, only 15 shopping days till Christmas, and how far have you got with your gift-buying? Relax, relax — no matter how daunting the list, remember that EATON'S can help you out. There's so much more to choose from at EATON'S — just make up your list, hurry downtown, park free at our new Customer Carpark (room for 2,000 cars daily) and make your choice from thousands of suitable gifts.

Is Money Outmoded?

Not quite, but the idea of paying cash each time you buy something is a little out of date. It's so much more convenient to say, "Charge it, please," give the clerk your account number, and that's it! No waiting for change — no loose cash to lose. Probably the most useful account of all is EATON'S Budget-Charge — once it's open you can charge anything from a pair of socks to a refrigerator without having to return to the Accounts Office. You don't have to pay in full when you receive your statement — as little as 16.00 monthly is all you need pay on a balance of 305.00.

Can This Be True?

Indeed it can! If you'll inquire at the Accounts Office on the Third Floor, you'll find just how to solve all your Christmas money problems. Open a Budget-Charge Account — shop anywhere in the store except food departments. Buy Christmas Cards, clothes, candy, car-seat covers, chestfields — anything you please. After Christmas you'll receive a statement listing all your purchases with the original bills for you to check. Suppose you spent $50.00 — your payment will be only 23.00 a month, including service charge! Inquire now — EV 2-7141 is the phone number.

Fingers All Thumbs?

Believe it or not... an EATON Budget-Charge Account can even settle that difficulty! If gift-wrapping is a major problem, and the results of your efforts look like a modernistic sculpture... don't despair! Take your gifts to our second floor Gift Wrap — tell the expert behind the counter what kind of a wrap you'd like, and leave the problems up to her. Your gift will be a "stand-out" beneath the tree, in a package almost too pretty to open. The modest cost may be charged to your account.

The
Word

The last word in gifts is an EATON Gift Certificate, when you just don't know what to give, or you haven't time to shop. EATON Gift Certificates may be purchased in denominations from 50c up, and are redeemable at face value in any EATON Store across Canada.

Foreign Purchases

Grudge Held By Merchants Against Tars

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

A storm of secret resentment is brewing in the bosoms of some Victoria merchants against crews of various Royal Canadian Navy ships which returned recently to Victoria loaded with foreign-purchased Christmas gifts.

The navy men, who had been on exercise in foreign waters, came back with their Christmas shopping completed for gifts to wives and families.

Victoria merchants saw in the action nothing but a loss of legitimate trade from one of the largest sections of the local purchasing public.

FEAR REPRISALS

Because they fear reprisals—withdrawal of custom by naval personnel—merchants have begged that their names should not be mentioned in connection with their feelings. But they feel that this year, "when not more than a dozen stores may be showing a profit on the year so far," foreign buying by naval personnel is not playing the game.

Earlier this year, Admiral H. S. Rayner, former flag officer, Pacific Coast, and now the naval chief of staff, said that in recent years the navy has provided a $38,000,000-a-year boost to the Greater Victoria economy.

He pointed out that most of this money, which includes food, goods, services and service pay, but not new ships or buildings, is spent locally.

COSTLY TOYS

Pictures taken of the return of navy ships recently showed sailors with crates and parcels of costly toys and household appliances.

"We know that many Canadians do their Christmas shopping in the United States, and there is little we can do about it," said one merchant. "But these people pay their own fares to and from the United States and spend their own money for accommodation and meals."

"With the Canadian navy it is different. The taxpayers' money is used to take them to foreign parts, and is enabling them to make purchases that have nothing whatsoever to do with their naval duties."

Canadians who are out of the country for 48 hours or more are allowed to bring home with them up to $100 worth of merchandise, free of customs duty once every four months. This exemption also applies to members of the armed services, and these in some cases can have their exemptions raised to $200 provided the claim is made not more than once a year.

It was under this latter clause that Victoria merchants

A motor transport training exercise will be undertaken Sunday by 40 members of the 5th Medium Artillery Battery.

Under command of Lieut. D. R. Cook, training officer, nine vehicles will leave Bay Street Armory at 8.30 a.m.

Thetis

Tighten Up On Park City Told

Parks Administrator W. H. Warren will suggest to city council parks committee, he said yesterday, that provincial legislation be sought by the city to tighten its control of Thetis Lake Park.

The property is held not as park but as watershed by the city, and Mr. Warren told the committee earlier this year that under these circumstances enforcement of rules was difficult. "If someone picks a flower, you have to go after him in a civil way, and place a value on the flower to go before a judge and obtain compensation. You have to declare the value of the daisy,"

Bennett Invites Premiers To Meet Here in 1962

Premier Bennett said yesterday he had invited provincial premiers to meet in conference here in 1962.

He has just returned from the first meeting of premiers in some 70 years. A meeting will be held next year in Prince Edward Island "which claims to be the cradle of Confederation."

Killer-Whale Last Totem

Last totem to be carved in Thunderbird Park for some months is this killer-whale being shaped by Henry Hunt, son-in-law of Chief Mungo Martin, and father of 12. Chief Martin has been told by provincial officials that no money is available to continue the work at least until the new budget is announced in the spring. (Colonist photo.)

Dark Clothing

Pedestrian Hit by Car On Highway

A Saanich pedestrian wearing dark clothing was taken to hospital and released three-quarters of an hour later after being hit by a car at Tillicum and Trans-Canada Highway at 6 p.m. last night.

Garage operator Brian Tenyson, 3446 Wascana, heard the screech of brakes and ran to the scene to find the victim, Leslie Jones, 3850 Rowland, lying on the ground. "At first I thought he was dead," he said.

Police said Mr. Jones was hit by a car driven by Robert Mills, 3441 Esson.

Community Groups

Charity Review Board 'Sound-Out' Suggested

Community groups were asked last night to sound out their members on creation of a board to review all charity and other appeals for funds in Greater Victoria.

The move followed an exploratory meeting called by the Chamber of Commerce. Chamber president M. Aubrey Kent said the discussions indicated the organizations must first be asked if they see any merit in the proposal before the task of defining terms of reference for the review board is commenced.

He said the board would be "divorced from the Chamber—we are just starting it."

A similar group, on a much smaller scale, already functions successfully within the Chamber itself, the meeting was told.

R. A. H. Lort, chairman of the solicitations group, said a screening committee of three working in secret, examines all appeals for funds and advertising, then reports its findings to chamber members.

LARGER SCHEME

"This larger scheme we now propose for the benefit of the public has grown out of our own experience, partly, and out of a review board that was established in Brantford, Ont.," said Mr. Lort.

In the five years since the Brantford board began reviewing appeals, Mr. Lort added, it has "become the kiss of death on any money or badly run fund-raising scheme."

Coun. Allan Cox, representing Oak Bay, said he was opposed to a review board "drawing any conclusions which may be unfair to the groups involved."

Replacement of Smashed Statue May Be Opposed in City Council

Replacement of the smashed Beacon Hill Park statue of the Queen with a bronze statue will be discussed by city council but, according to indications yesterday, the idea won't win complete acceptance. "A bronze statue would be very costly," said Geoffrey Edgewood, and "I think we should take the remains of the statue away, and put it all down to a sad day in our community."

Ald. Arthur Dowell, too, doubted that even a metal statue would be vandal-proof, although Mayor Percy Scurrah said he thought he would be in favor of having a bronze one.

Leaders Implore Ratepayers

Get Out and Vote!

The civic leaders of Greater Victoria were unanimous last night in calling for everybody eligible to go to the polls and vote—even Reeve A. C. Wurtelle of Esquimalt, where there is no election.

"The apathy of the public to civic elections is a problem across Canada," Mayor Percy Scurrah said. "After all, local government is grass roots government."

Reeve George Murdoch called for a full vote to "clarify the pay issue once and for all."

"I hope the people will vote even though there are no major issues involved," he said. "On every occasion a vote is called for the people should turn out."

Reeve Wurtelle said the usual civic vote in Greater Victoria municipalities is only 30 per cent.

"This is a very poor vote. Although we have no election in Esquimalt I would like to see a heavy vote in the other areas."

Rivalry Pleases Premier

Rivalry between Saanich and Victoria over the naming of the third government ferry to be built for the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run was termed by Premier Bennett yesterday as "the one thing that has pleased me more than anything else since I've been premier."

He said the rivalry meant that the ferry service was an outstanding success.

The premier added that no decision had been made as to a name for the ferry, tenders for which will be called this week.

New Party

Hamilton Seeking Office

New Party candidate in the coming Esquimalt-Saanich byelection will be 40-year-old Glen Hamilton, director of the Silver Threads Agency, who was instrumental in establishing a New Party Club here during the weekend.

His was the only nomination received when they closed at midnight Wednesday. It is understood he was chosen at a meeting of CCF and trade union representatives Tuesday.

Mr. Hamilton came to B.C. in 1920.

Attempted Murder Charged

Joseph Altorjai, 1308 Douglas, charged Sept. 30 with attempted murder following an affray in a downtown restaurant, has been found fit to face trial on the charge.

He had been ruled mentally unfit to stand trial and was committed to the provincial mental home at Essondale.

A cabinet order now transfers him back to Victoria city jail to face "due process of law."

Charge arose from a complaint by James Cameron, 824 Broughton, that he had been struck on the arm with an axe by the accused in the Melrose Cafe.

"We are now in the process of drafting the treaty and this meeting is to settle Canada's position."

Speech Program

Scheduled Sunday

A program on the art of speech will be given by young speakers under the direction of city teacher Mrs. Wilfrid Ord, at 8.30 p.m. Sunday in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

INNOCENTS ABROAD:

Premier Bennett, who has more than enough ability to sell a warehouse full of refrigerators to a parcel of Eskimos, entertained this column yesterday with a glowing account of his invasion of the political bastions of Quebec.

In the interests of history we run excerpts from the verbatim account:

"... Yes, my friend, we had a very interesting time in Quebec. After the premiers' conference we went to... how do you pronounce it?"

(Aide whispers name.)

"Ah, yes, Rouyn. Now this was the nomination of the first Social Creditor, maybe he's the first Social Creditor in Canada, for the next federal election. They nominated the

End Not in Sight

Another Climax Due In Arena Wrangle

By R. O. MARRION

The Memorial Arena controversy will reach another climax Friday afternoon, but probably not an end.

A compromise solution arrived at after hours of private dispute and debate by the commission will be put before city council.

LEAKED OUT

If the compromise is in the form that leaked out yesterday—presumably not directly from commission members, because, one of them said, the report was not entirely correct—indications are that council will not completely approve of it.

In that case, the upshot is anyone's guess. But some members of council are showing signs of an increasing inclination to ask for the resignations of the commissioners.

COMPROMISE

The proposed compromise between Courtney Haddock and the rest of the commissioners, according to the information in circulation yesterday, is this:

● A new arena general manager would be hired.

● Joseph Dukowski would be offered the job of building and promotion manager at $6,000 a year instead of the present $10,400.

● Kenneth Noakes would be rehired as office manager and the other five employees who resigned also would be rehired en bloc.

The "leaked" information also was that City Manager C. S. Wyatt would be appointed secretary of the arena. From reaction of a commissioner, however, this report appeared wrong.

MADE DECISION

Mayor Percy Scurrah, who talked with commission vice-chairman W. F. Pinfold after the commission made its decision Tuesday at noon, nevertheless appeared surprised at the report yesterday when he first heard it.

He expressed doubt that this was the proposed setup, because, he said, it seemed too complicated.

Later in the day he said

Thieves Fail In City Entry

Thieves forced a basement door but nothing was stolen at the home of G. W. Walkey, 2537 Cook Street, last night. Drawers of a bedroom bureau had been ransacked. Incident occurred between 5 p.m. and 7.30 p.m.

he had not yet received the commission's statement to council.

"I don't see how I can express an opinion on a speculation story," he said. "After council gets the report on Friday I'll express my opinion."

Nor would commission chairman Frank G. Mulliner say anything about the report. "We all swore not to say anything before council receives the statement and I can't say anything now," he said.

COMPLETE APPROVAL

Indications that the setup reportedly planned won't meet complete approval from council came from Aldermen Geoffrey Edgewood and M. H. Mooney.

"I would say first that to my thinking, Dukowski and Noakes were together in whatever did happen at the arena for years," Ald. Edgewood said, "and both put up with it."

"Second, there's no question from a financial standpoint that the arena has been operated successfully—it has made an average operating profit of $37,000 a year—and no doubt the commission has taken this into consideration.

"But if the decision to take back all the staff has been made in the city's interests, then I think they should take Dukowski back in his original capacity. There's no point in having an extra manager."

LOT OF THINGS

"A lot of things that have been charged are piquant, but there should be a closer liaison between the commission and the operation, and now if the air is cleared I don't doubt that there will be closer liaison so this sort of thing won't happen again."

Ald. Mooney said the proposals were "not the way I would think it should have been handled."

This solution, he said, might meet the requirements of some people and the press "but it's not what I feel would be good business."

Mr. Dukowski and Mr. Noakes both said yesterday they had not been informed of the commission's plans and therefore would not comment.

Drive-In Ransacked

Thieves broke into a Victoria restaurant early yesterday morning, ransacking the place but apparently took nothing.

Police reported the Burger Baron drive-in, 2619 Douglas, was entered by breaking a store room window.

provincial president in that constituency. What was his name?

Column: "Was he a Social Creditor then?"

Premier: "Well, I don't know. He may have been." The premier grinned broadly. "Now, my friend, I want to tell you something."

"This was the most enthusiastic Social Credit meeting I've ever been to. I only wish I could speak French. The auditorium held about 2,000 people. And it was not only packed to the doors but there were people outside too ... listening over loudspeakers. I never had such a rousing welcome and I spoke last. You know, they sing these French songs to you."

Premier Bennett looked toward the ceiling, threw back

his shoulders and continued: "My friend, I would say that Social Credit will win the majority of seats in Quebec in the next federal election. Social Credit has a better chance of winning the largest number of seats in the next election in Canada than Social Credit had in B.C. in 1952."

"Those French people in Quebec are more clever than we are. They speak two languages. Why even 80 per cent of the people can even understand my own language. Of course, you would hear a lot of whispering—you know, the younger people telling the older people what I said."

"Yes, my friend, thousands of people in Quebec are turning to Social Credit. I was just amazed at their enthusiasm."

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: The kids are in bed, the dishes are stacked in the sink and there's plenty of mending I could do, but I'm going to let everything sit. Tonight I'm keeping a promise I made to myself a year ago. I'm going to write to Ann Landers.

Jack and I have been married 16 years. He had a good education and I always told myself he'd make the grade. Well, he never has—quite. The pay cheque barely covers the necessities. Our five kids, God bless them, are healthy and smart, but they keep me on the brink of exhaustion.

If Jack takes me to a movie once every couple of weeks, it's a big deal. He's a swell guy, and DO love him, but this isn't exactly what I expected out of life. A meal in a restaurant would be like a dream come true. I'm yearning for just a little bit of real fur on a suit. Tell me, Ann, is this a life?—Mrs. America.

Dear Mrs. America: You bet it's a life—and a darned good one. Did you know that people can get just as exhausted from boredom as from overwork? And sirloin in a restaurant can begin to taste like sawdust after a while, too.

I've had stacks of letters from women with open charge accounts asking me what to do with their lives. And many write to ask how to solve problems that resulted from too much leisure time. They sought escape from boredom through alcohol and extramarital affairs.

Sure you get fed up—everybody does—but don't lose your perspective. You've got the things that count. Pity the poor millionaire. He'll never know the thrill of paying that final installment!

Dear Ann Landers: I am at a loss to know what to do. Maybe you can tell me.

A very well-to-do man sits next to me in church every Sunday. I have observed him closely for over a year and there is no chance that I am mistaken. When the collection plate is passed he puts in a dollar bill and takes out five or six singles.

If the same person passed the plate every Sunday I'd tip him off, but it's a different one every week. What shall I do about this cheapest of cheap-skates?—THE WITNESS.

Dear Witness: If you are certain, hand the man two singles next Sunday and say, "Please put these two dollars in the plate... one from me and one from you."

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Keeping and Putting—And How Far to Go," enclosing with your request 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Heart Expert

Housework the Hardest

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women who complain about housework now have a heart expert—with documentation—to prove that clearing the clutter is back-breaking.

Dr. Herman K. Hellerstein put it this way:

"Actually most jobs are a cinch compared to housework."

The cardiologist made that point in a report to the eighth world congress of the International Society for the Rehabilitation of the Disabled.

Dr. Hellerstein is director of the Cleveland area heart society's work classification, a pioneer clinic devoted to helping heart patients return to work.

He is known for his studies of the stress and energy cost of many jobs—including those of blue and white collar workers.

STRESS

Housework was hoisted to pedestal level when the doctor reported that physical training can benefit some heart patients by helping them to face emotional and physical stress with steadier nerves and lower pulse rates.

He said strenuous housework burns up 6.6 calories per minute—compared to a mere four to five calories per minute for such chores as gardening, golfing, or walking briskly.

To prove further that those working outside the home have easy jobs compared to housework, the heart doctor ticked off the calories used per minute in various jobs.

Clerks, for example, spend 1.6 calories per minute; blue collar workers in factories, 2 per minute; and coal miners, 4.3 per minute.

JOBS EASIER

By measuring the physical reactions to workers at industrial plants and in offices, the heart expert and his associates found that many jobs are far less strenuous than leisure time activities—in addition to being easier than housework.

It was found, for example, that the hardest part of a girl Friday's office job may be walking off for a coffee break, especially if she walks briskly.

But the office workers, for the most part, aren't sitting on their hands all day.

Dr. Hellerstein said some white collar workers holding down desk jobs burn up more energy than those doing hard more time for rest between labor because in many labor spurts of activity.

Fringe on Top Is Paris Craze

PARIS — It's the girl with the fringe on top who will be the life of the Christmas parties.

Paris hairdressers these days are working overtime. Even more than a new dress for Christmas, all the women want a new hairdo. Today nothing looks more "old hat" than last year's bouffant or beehive hairstyle.

Alexandre and Carita, the two leading Paris hair-stylists have decided on bangs. And bangs are what the fashion-conscious girls are going to wear for Christmas.

This latest Paris hairdo is a heavy straight fringe worn right across the forehead. On the sides too the hair is cut straight instead of coming to kiss-curls on the cheeks.

Hairdresser Carita calls the new style the "horizontal cut" and she proposes the "horizontal make-up" to go with it.

COURT CIRCULAR

St. James's Palace,
Dec. 3.

The Duke of Gloucester visited Leeds today.

His Royal Highness attended the Annual Dinner of the Leeds Branch of the Scots Guards Association, held in the Great Northern Hotel, and later visited the 49th (West Riding and Midland) Infantry Division Column, Royal Army Service Corps, T.A. Harewood Barracks.

Major Nigel Chamberlayne-Macdonald was in attendance.

The Duke of Edinburgh, who has been shooting in Germany, will fly to Italy today to spend a few days near Turin. His Royal Highness will return to London towards the end of the week.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Bigelow were married recently in Portland, Ore. Mrs. Bigelow is the former Miss Louise Naysmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Naysmith, Shelbourne Street. Dr. and Mrs. Bigelow are now residing at 4311 S.E. 37th, Portland.—(Wong Studio.)

Naval Wedding In HMCS Naden

A lovely naval wedding was solemnized in HMCS Naden for a honeymoon in Alberta. Chapel recently when Miss Bonnie June McCaw, daughter of PO and Mrs. H. McCaw, became the bride of AB David William Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Potter, Kitscoty, Alta. Chaplain Todd officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length gown of Chantilly lace with a jacket trimmed with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Her chapel veil was edged with lace and held to a pearl tiara. She carried a spray of white carnations and red roses.

Bridesmaid, Miss Lila Isaak of Langley, B.C., wore a red taffeta dress with white accessories and carried a spray of white carnations. Little Laura Lee McCaw, the bride's sister, was flower girl and wore a blue velvet frock. She carried a nosegay of carnations and roses.

AB Mark Kuipers was best man and ushers were AB Ronald McCracken and AB Donald Murdoch. Ring bearer was Master Clark McCaw, the bride's brother, in a miniature naval uniform.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, The Women's Guild of St. John's Anglican Church will meet on Monday, Dec. 12, at 2 p.m. in the lower hall, for the Christmas party.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Married at St. Alban's

St. Alban's Church was the scene of a double ring candle ceremony recently when marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Linda Georgina Johnson and Mr. Timothy David Thompson before the Rev. J. C. Bergbusch.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George N. Johnson, 1584 Bay Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Thompson, Kimberley, B.C.

The bride wore a floor-length dress of tiered lace, the bodice studded with pearls and sequins. Her shoulder-length veil was fastened to a pearl tiara and she carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and white laced carnations.

The maid of honor, Miss Dolores Jackson and bridesmaids, Miss Emma Maier and Miss Judy Murdoch chose waltz-length gowns of turquoise, blue and pink organza, respectively. They had white feather caps and carried bouquets of pink carnations and white chrysanthemums.

The best man was the groom's brother, Mr. Peter Thompson and ushers were Mr. Jack Waters and Mr. Richard Zala.

Red roses and white candles flanked the three-tiered wedding cake centring the bride's table at the reception held at Holyrood House. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Harry Weargath.

The new Mrs. Thompson chose a cherry red Blin and Blin dress, charcoal grey fur jacket, winter white hat and gardenia corsage when the couple left for a honeymoon to the United States.

TIPS FOR PARENTS

By HELEN R. HEWSON

Writes one perplexed mother: "How can children be persuaded to do their few household chores, to accept responsibility without being constantly reminded?"

"I can do the work myself in less time and with much less wear and tear. But I still cling to the notion that it is good for children to help around the house."

"However, I am not having much success in getting this idea across to them."

When a perfectly good idea doesn't work out, it is time to examine the methods used.

How much is being expected of the children and how are they being taught? Small children under the age of six are usually quite willing household helpers.

We can make use of their willingness by making it easy for them, encourage self-help as much as possible and let them take a hand at the dusting and dishwashing even if it slows us down now and then.

A basket that has been given a coat of bright paint is a great help in picking up small toys. A low shelf, low placed hooks for clothing and a stool at sink or wash basin encourage do-it-yourself.

The children still need mother's helping hand now and then and certainly a smile and word of appreciation.

The older child who has started to school has many demands on his time and his energies. He has many adjustments to make to new friends, new experiences, new ideas.

Family chores are pushed into the background, the novelty has worn off, they are just routine matters to be skipped through as quickly as possible or forgotten.

Try another approach. Don't depend upon verbal reminders, and reminders will be necessary. Use the blackboard or a check list.

It is a good plan also to get into the habit of talking over what is to be done and letting the children decide who is going to do what, with a review and exchange of duties every week or two.

King of Ball

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Ian Morshuk was crowned King of the Ball at the University of Western Ontario annual dance by Mrs. F. W. P. Jones, wife of the dean. The winner, in defeating three other candidates in a two-week campaign, based his platform on the superiority of goat's milk over beer. The four candidates were rated secretly by a girl they all dated previous to the ball.

across the seas. These ladies are helping Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova of the Unitarian Service to supply the 10,000 layettes she has undertaken to help collect to help fight for survival for unfortunate people in Greece, Korea, India and Hong Kong. In some parts, babies are clothed in newspaper, so any clean garment is welcome. A layette consists of four diapers, and four large safety pins, two nightgowns, two shirts, two jackets, one towel and one cake of soap. It is hoped to get these articles into Europe before Christmas.

Mrs. Grant was proud of the articles made by her friends on Salt Spring Island. There were two crocheted afghans, some of the blocks were made by an 83-year-old lady in Penticton, Mrs. F. Wilson, of Paradise Ranch, Naramata. Although not all new material, everything was soft and clean, and beautifully worked.

Dr. Hirschmanova calls the project "USC Layette Lift" and to quote from her letter, she says:

"If every Canadian mother gave only one garment from the bounty of her own little one, the remaining 10,000 layettes could be collected within a week and they would arrive in the Middle East by Christmas, as a magnificent gift to demonstrate Canadian concern and generosity."

LEMON JUICE

Best not to use bottled bleaches on rust stains. It may cause a hole in the fabric. Instead, (if fabric is washable) sprinkle stain with salt, moisten with lemon juice, then expose to sunlight. Stubborn or large stains are best left to a professional laundry.

What's Cooking

By LOUISE MOORE

With Christmas in the offing, there will be times when you return from a day's shopping as limp as a rag. The first thing you'll do is kick off your shoes and relax with a good cup of tea.

And with a good cup of tea most of us like something to nibble. So here are a few recipes for delicious little bites.

DATE COOKIES

Cream 3 tbsps. butter. Gradually beat in 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar and beat well. Add 2 lightly beaten eggs and beat until light and fluffy with 1/2 tsp. vanilla.

Add 1 cup sliced dates and 1 cup chopped nuts. Add 1 cup flour sifted with 1 tsp. baking powder and 1/4 tsp. salt. Mix well and drop on greased cookie sheet.

Bake in moderate oven (375) 8 to 10 minutes or until done.

Bake 1 or 2 cookies, first and, if they spread too much, add another 1/4 tsp. of flour. Use pecans or walnuts.

CURRENT ROCKS

Combine 1 cup melted butter, 1 cup white sugar, 2 lightly beaten eggs, grated rind of 1/2 lemon. Beat thoroughly.

Sift 3 cups sifted pastry flour, 1 tsp. baking soda, 1/2 tsp. nutmeg. Add to first mixture and mix well. Mix in 1 cup currants.

Drop by spoonfuls on to greased baking sheet about 1 inch apart. Bake in mod. oven about 10 minutes or until golden brown.

I usually use about 2 1/2 cups flour and then add what I think is needed to make a drop cookie not too stiff but tender and crisp.

SCOTCH SHORTBREAD

Sift into a bowl 2 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour, 1/2 cup confectioner's sugar. Work in with fingers 1 cup sweet butter broken into small pieces. Mix until smoothly blended.

Divide dough and place each half on large cookie sheet. Pat each into a circle 4-inch thick. Bake in moderate oven (375) until a delicious golden brown—20 to 25 minutes.

Biggest Sleuth On Way

LONDON (CP) — The biggest man in Scotland Yard has been selected to help stamp out the rising crime wave in Montreal. Andrew Way, a divisional commander at New Scotland Yard, will arrive in Canada "soon after Jan. 1" to help the city of Montreal reorganize its police force. The appointment is for a year.

"I am looking forward enormously to going to Canada," he told a press conference Wednesday in his office on the north bank of the Thames. It will be his first trip to Canada.

Way, 51, has a wide range of police administrative work behind him. He will work with Andre Gaubiac, 61, a retired general director of the Paris police force.

SIX-FOOT-THREE

"I hope to meet Gaubiac before going to Montreal," said Way, a heavy-set six-foot-three, described by a Scotland Yard colleague as easily the biggest man in a senior position on the force.

Major John Drapeau of Montreal negotiated for the services of Way and Gaubiac during a secret air trip to Paris and London last month. Drapeau wanted outside men experienced with the policing of big cities.

AS CONSULTANTS

The two officers will examine the workings of the Montreal force and make recommendations. They will act strictly as consultants.

Way, sporting a moustache a shade lighter than his dark wavy hair, said he expects to live in a district in Montreal where he can observe what is going on. His wife and two sons, both in business, will remain in London.

"The crime problem in two cities of similar size is much the same," he said. "The larger the city, the bigger the crime problem."

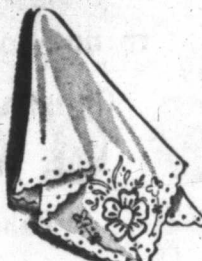

Ex-Dragoons Meet Author

Former members of the B.C. Dragoons will meet Friday at 8 p.m. at the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion with R. H. Roy of Victoria University's history department.

Mr. Roy has been commissioned to write the history of the regiment which fought as a tank unit in the Fifth Division in the Second World War.

Mr. Roy carried out a similar writing job for the Canadian Scottish Regiment.

Flames Around Money Inspire Faith in Banks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thirty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smoot lost faith in savings institutions. They turned to the mattress instead.

Yesterday they forgot to turn off a heating pad before they went to work next door. Hours later they smelled smoke. Their mattress was smoldering, filling the house with smoke.

"Our money, our money," cried Mrs. Smoot. "All our savings are sewed inside."

Luckily the $8,000 was intact. So they put it in two banks.

Important Ontario Find

Ancient Bones Found in Parking Site

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. — An archeologist and his workers uncovered more pieces of skeleton and ancient ceremonial weapons Wednesday as excavations continued on the ground intended for a downtown parking lot here. The archeological series started when a workman turned up pieces of the skeleton and additional the Serpent Mounds at Keene. Mr. Kenyon said the tools were described by archeologists as ne 15 miles southeast of here, had and flint spearheads were hoped to find such tools when probably never used but would have been placed in the grave to help the dead Indian's spirit in the next world. Besides the skeleton of the chief, pieces of bones of another adult and a teenager, as well as a large animal, were found in the same pit. Mr. Kenyon said diggers at all in the same pit.

Cuban Plan Surprise To Canada

MALCOLM MUGGERIDGE

Muggeridge Attacks Royalty, Churchill

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Malcolm Muggeridge, former editor of Punch magazine, likened the British monarchy to a soap opera Tuesday and said that may be a reason for U.S. fascination with the Royal Family. "I think it's a God-awful bore, but there appears to be an awful public demand for it," he said at a press conference following a lecture to the Winthrop College student body.

In a lecture on the "General absurdities of life," Muggeridge said: "I was brought up to believe in an empire on which the sun never sets. Now I find myself living in one on which it never rises."

Muggeridge also called Sir Winston Churchill a "very bad writer," saying Churchill is honored for "terrible service" to the Empire but his prose style is the "worst penned by man."

Internal Report Made

Duplessis Knew in 1954 Natural Gas Profit-Maker

MONTREAL (CP)—A provincial royal commission inquiring into the former Union Nationale administration of the late premier Maurice Duplessis, learned Wednesday that a 1954 internal Quebec Hydro report had predicted natural gas would quickly become a profitable operation.

Raymond Latreille, a commissioner of Quebec Hydro since its inception in 1944, testified that the report was prepared by a committee set up under him to study the feasibility of converting the Montreal distribution system to natural gas from manufactured gas.

MR. JUSTICE SALVAS
The royal commission is headed by Mr. Justice Elie Salvas, a superior court judge.

Other members are Jean-Marie Guérard, Quebec city lawyer, and Howard Irwin Ross, Montreal chartered accountant.

Mr. Latreille said the report, recommending conversion to natural gas, was given Oct. 24, 1954, to the then president of Quebec Hydro, L. Eugene Potvin.

FIRST DAY
It was among several documents presented in evidence on the first day of the commission's inquiry, including all the annual reports of Quebec Hydro.

Mr. Latreille, a professional engineer, was the only witness called.

The 1954 report forecast net revenues, after conversion costs had been met, of $159,800 after the first year, $448,300 after the second $689,900 after the third, $1,108,089 after the fourth, and $1,707,000 after the fifth.

The government has been maintaining an "everything is normal" policy in Cuban relations since the imposition of a U.S. embargo on American trade with Cuba. Latest trade figures show traffic in goods between Cuba and Canada has fallen off slightly this year.

The Cuban delegation may visit Ottawa government officials towards the end of its tour, which probably will be concentrated in Toronto and Montreal.

HARD PRESSED
Subject of a dollar loan to Cuba has not been discussed by cabinet, and officials said Canada would not only be hard pressed at this point to make a large loan, but would be reluctant to advance funds without iron-clad protection. Reports reaching the external affairs department have indicated Cuba's payment record since the Castro regime took over has not inspired confidence.

Garden Notes

Fill Those Cavities!

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

My neighbor Ernie, who is a great one for performing all his gardening operations in strict accordance with the rules in the garden books, is inclined to look down his nose at me when he catches me snipping away with a pair of secateurs at the wrong time of the year. For my money, there is no closed season for taking out any dead or diseased wood in any shrub or tree, and I like to deal with badly placed shoots just as soon as I notice them.

There are quite a few leaf-losing trees and shrubs which are eligible for pruning now, but even those kinds which are pruned normally in March or in the period immediately after blooming can be looked over with a critical eye right now.

The bare branches will often show up faults which wouldn't be noticed when the subject is in full leaf. In addition to taking out dead, diseased and badly placed shoots, thin out any branches or sub-branches which are obviously overcrowded and shorten any unripened shoots, those which are still green and supple and have failed to turn woody. These soft shoots are wide open to pests, diseases and frost damage and, even if they survive the winter, subsequent growth in the spring is nearly always poor and unthrifty.

A winter inspection of deciduous trees will often show cavities in the trunk. These constitute a serious threat to the life of the tree and should be filled to prevent the entry of water.

Just as an untreated cavity in a tooth can give rise to troubles in other parts of the body, so can a tree cavity provide entry for various infections.

Various materials are available for this job, depending mostly on the size of the hole. For a shallow cavity, Braco Tree Emulsion is about as good as anything or a mixture of bitumen and sand does a very satisfactory job. For larger holes, concrete is best. Nowadays, hardware stores and stores catering to the do-it-yourself fans sell small packaged quantities of cement, sand and gravel ready mixed, needing only the addition of water, and even the unhandy man who is all thumbs can plug a cavity neatly.

The important thing is the preparation of the cavity. Just as the dentist uses that infernal, nerve-racking drill to clean out a tooth cavity before filling it, so it is necessary to chip out all weathered and rotted wood with a mallet and chisel cleaning it right down to fresh, living wood. Even the tiniest particle of rotted material can start a pocket of infection under the filling.

One problem is keeping the filling in place. For the swaying of the tree in the wind tends to loosen the concrete plug unless it is anchored very securely indeed.

My favorite means of anchorage is to nail the inside of the cavity with nails driven only halfway into the wood. With the concrete worked well in among the nails, the protruding nail heads, imbedded in the plug material will hold it firmly in place.

'Clovelly' Doomed

Another Gracious Home Gone

By JAMES K. NESBITT

Another of Victoria's gracious old-world homes has gone under the wrecker's hammer to make way for a new building.

This time it's "Clovelly," on Clovelly Terrace, just off the Esquimalt Road, where will rise the new headquarters building for the RCMP.

"Clovelly" for years was the residence of Sir Frank and Lady Barnard, leaders of wealth, politics, fashion, music and society in Victoria and British Columbia.

Sir Frank had been a Conservative member of the House of Commons for years and was 1914-19 lieutenant-governor of British Columbia.

They were married in 1883, as noted in The Colonist: "Hymeneal—we congratulate our friend, Mr. Frank Barnard, upon his union with Miss Martha Amelia Sophia Loewen, one of Victoria's fairest and most accomplished daughters. In the evening the Victoria Leidenkrantz serenaded Mr. Loewen's residence. The bride and groom bowed their acknowledgements from the verandah, and the Leidenkrantz were invited to enter and were hospitably entertained."

"Clovelly" was built in 1894 for Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Weaver-Bridgman, she a daughter of Mr. Justice M. W. Tyrwhitt-Drake, one-time mayor of Victoria.

The Colonist told of it: "The

principal feature is the beauty of the cedar panelling in the hall and inglenook, the drawing room and quaint octagonal smoking room being entirely of this exquisite wood. Another point of merit is the massive cedar staircase, with the lower newel running to the ceiling, and with a double arch on either side, through which is seen the 25-light, stained-glass window."

A few months later there was a fire: "the all-but-total destruction—the family was at once ran to the nearest telephone and communicated with the fire department. The kitchen, conservatory and adjoining buildings were entirely consumed, and the house itself rendered a wreck."

The Weaver-Bridgmans rebuilt the house, and it was in 1900 that the Barnards moved into "Clovelly," and considerably enlarged it, and the grounds, setting out formal terraces, and building a rustic summer tea house, with a fine view over the waters of the harbor to the Olympics. In the rocky cove below his house, Sir Frank moored his yacht.

In the fine dining room, Sir Frank and his wife gave formal white-tie dinners, and there were high-society tea parties in the drawing room, and big-time political talk in the library, and in the grounds they received hundreds at an annual garden party.

Sir Frank died in 1936 and Lady Barnard in 1942. Then a Catholic sisters' order bought the place; for a time it was a nursing home. Later a restaurant was tried, and a boarding house.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

One of my evening students recently raised the question of how to get ideas.

He works in a large advertising agency and spoke with some enthusiasm about their famous "brainstorming" sessions, with two dozen people sitting around a big table and competing with each other in tossing ideas in the air. My student said the method worked splendidly.

I expressed doubt. To my mind, there are few more useless ways of spending one's time than deliberately, in a group, trying to produce ideas.

Prince of Mankind

Madison Avenue, of course, puts a premium on "ideas" and "creativity." To hear them talk, there's nothing more valuable in the world than the production of new ideas; he who can function as a top notch idea man is to be considered a prince of mankind.

I disagree. Anyone with a real understanding of the scientific method will dismiss this whole notion immediately. To a scientist, the production of an idea is nothing—an incident of minor importance. Why, of course he has to have ideas to do his work, but that's just a matter of the necessary routine of research.

Research is a method of testing ideas and so, naturally, you have to have an idea—an unproven hypothesis—before you can get going on the real work in the laboratory or the field. But that idea itself is just a starting point—liable to be disproved entirely or to be reshaped in a thousand ways during the testing process.

Just Plain Silly

To make a big fuss about the production of an untested idea would seem to a scientist just plain silly.

When a scientist is through with his experiment, he'll publish his finding in a scientific journal. But he certainly wouldn't dream of telling the world about something that just popped out of his head—or came out of a "brainstorming" session of his research team.

"Brainstorming," in short, simply isn't the way to get at scientific truths or solid intellectual contributions. All it is good for is the Madison Avenue type of idea—some new advertising slogan, merchandising twist, or promotion stunt—some trick to make people buy.

Raft Huddles With Lawyers

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—George Raft is huddling with his lawyers in New York while he stars in his new film, "Cause of Death." The wife from whom he has been separated for more than 30 years is claiming that George owes her back alimony. "I only hear from her when she wants money," George told me over the telephone. "My attorneys are looking into her claims." ... Raft describes his movie as "on the style of 'Psycho.' I'm hoping a television series will come from it. I'm on the right side of the law for a change."

The James Masons will be apart for three months while he makes "Lolita" in London. Wife Pamela is held in Hollywood with her TV show.

When former French premier Pierre Mendes-France was the guest of Dana Andrews on the set of "Madison Avenue" at 20th Century-Fox, Dana and his co-stars toasted the Frenchman in milk. When Mendes-France was in power he tried to turn his countrymen from wine drinkers to milk—with little success.

Danielle Darrieux describes "Lady Chatterley's Lover," in which she starred, as a nice family film! I'm sure this would have surprised the author, D. H. Lawrence.

In the original version of "The Grass Is Greener," the hero telephoned to the hotel room service and said he was Frank Sinatra. In the movie, hero Cary Grant says he is Rock Hudson because the picture is being released by Universal to whom Rock is under contract. Also the hotel is the Savoy, instead of Claridges, because several members of the movie cast, including Cary, stayed at the Savoy. And the plug, of course, was appreciated by the hotel.

I hear that Jean Simmons will not get a cent from the sale of the $2,000,000 ranch in Arizona, I had assumed she owned with Stewart Granger. The latter has joined the tax-happy citizens of Switzerland when last heard of. In the days of his marriage with Jean he looked after the ranch, and she made pictures—"to buy more cattle," she told me once. There's a moral in this paragraph.

Joan Crawford draws a good salary from her job as executive for the soft-drink company which was run by her late husband, Alfred Steele. But it's a pittance compared to the salary Lucille Ball gets as vice-president of Desilu, Inc.—$180,000 a year.

Michael Wilding told them in London that he absolutely refuses to battle with a woman, be she wife or whatnot. He said that was the trouble with all his previous wives—he wouldn't fight with them. And he'll marry a woman who doesn't expect him to fight.

Pastor, No. 11 Re-Wed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The Rev. Glynn Wolfe went to the altar for the 13th time yesterday, re-marrying wife No. 11 in a ceremony he said was prompted by one of Billy Graham's sermons.

After the ceremony, performed by the Rev. C. L. Coleman, the bride, Sherry Wolfe, 20, who divorced Wolfe in Los Angeles in 1958 after a 30-day marriage, explained:

"When I got divorced, I thought then that I would never get married again. But after hearing him (Dr. Graham) I believe that I should do what the Lord would want me to do.

"I wanted to marry Glynn and help him with his church work."

Wolfe is pastor of a downtown Baptist mission but his certificate to marry people was revoked by a judge because of his own many marriages.

He tried to get back into the marrying business — a very lucrative one in this city — but ran last in a field of nine in the justice-of-the-peace race.

"I'm still a preacher, although I can't perform any marriages," Wolfe said. "They can never keep me from preaching. Later on I hope to get a little church started here and I'm sure I'll qualify for a certificate to solemnize marriage."

MADE DECISION
The couple decided to re-marry, they said, after joining 7,000 other Las Vegas who heard Graham Tuesday night. "I knew she would decide to marry me sometime if I just waited," Wolfe said. "She's more mature now and I think she knows what she wants out of life."

The couple said they would honeymoon on a brief trip to Los Angeles where Wolfe used to be a hotelman.

Desegregate City Told

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Federal Judge Bryan Simpson yesterday ordered that any facilities owned, operated or leased by the city of Jacksonville "must be devoid of discrimination" within 30 days.

Segregation Fighters Give Up

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "We'll never come back to New Orleans," said James Gabrielle as he started planning Wednesday to move his family to his North Providence, R.I., home-town.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabrielle, parents of eight children, have been sending their daughter Yolanda, 6, to Grade 1 of integrated William Frantz School since integration started under federal orders Nov. 14.

ABUSE TOSSED
Why are they leaving? Stones tossed through windows of their apartment, insults from neighbors, abuse tossed at Mrs. Gabrielle as she takes Yolande to school each day, the cold shoulder treatment from Gabrielle's fellow workers at the city sewerage and water board where he does general maintenance.

QUITTING SOON
Gabrielle is quitting his job Dec. 15.

One of his co-workers, he said, told him he is "contaminating the white race" by sending Yolande to the integrated school.

"They never leave me in peace. But nobody is going to tell me how I should believe," he said.

LOOK NO FURTHER

Then our convenient location at 938 Yates. The car lot with the bellini building. Why wander all over town looking for a real good car at a real cheap price. As we have said so many times, good cars are not cheap and cheap cars are not good. Our aim is to strike a happy medium in either used or new cars. For example, we have a nice light green '53 Pontiac Sedan in excellent condition which we have priced to really sell at $695. Now $595.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Everyone knows that two chances are better than one. Not so well known is the fact that the sequence in which you test your luck is often far more important than the number of chances at your disposal. Too often, poor timing is the real reason for what is miscalled bad luck.

North's double raise, though minimum, was the best and most descriptive bid available. South made one mild slam try, but North signed off at game.

South was a finesse-happy player, and this hand was tailored to his weakness. He won the trump lead in his hand and returned another trump to the board. Next, a low diamond to the queen, taken by West's king. West returned a diamond to declarer's ace.

It was about time to lead hearts, so South led low to dummy's king. A finesse against the ace. But East had that card and killed the king. Another heart was won by West's king, and declarer still had to lose a club.

South never gave himself a decent chance. If he had tested clubs first, he would have noted the 3-3 split, allowing him to park his losing diamond on dummy's fourth club. But even after losing the diamond finesse, South should lead three clubs. East would probably be employed and have to lead a heart away from the ace or furnish declarer with a ruff and sluff. Should East block and West win the third round of clubs, with the ten spot, West could lead the heart. But declarer could duck on the board and limit himself to just one heart loss. It was tough to find a way to go down on this hand, but our hero managed it.

Fraud Trial for Hoffa

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Teamster President James Hoffa was indicted yesterday on charges of illegally pouring $500,000 in union funds into a Florida land development scheme and trying to sell the swampy lots to union members.

Named with Hoffa in the 12-count indictment were Henry Lower, president of Sun Valley, Inc., the land development firm which the funds allegedly were used to promote, and Robert E. McCarthy, Jr., former branch manager of the Bank of the Commonwealth, Detroit.

The indictments charged that

Khrushchev Ill with Flu

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is bedridden with influenza, First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan announced yesterday.

Land Deals Bring Indictment

Hoffa and Lower sold lots acquired by them for about $18 each to union members and others at prices ranging from $150 to $1,000.

PUT UP $500,000 The indictments, handed down here by a federal grand jury, charge, in effect, that the defendants put up $500,000 in Union Coast, near Titusville, and encouraged union members to buy the substandard lots "so low and permeated with water as to make them unsuitable for construction."

The indictments were based on charges that the defendants used the mails and interstate telephone and telegraph lines to perpetrate a fraud. Attorney General William Rogers said in Washington that postal inspectors, internal revenue agents, the FBI and justice department attorneys spent 13 months investigating the case.

SURRENDERS

Hoffa surrendered at the U.S. district attorney's office in Chicago and was taken before U.S. commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike. He was freed 13 minutes later under $10,000 bond.

"We'll try the case in court," Hoffa snapped when reporters bombarded him with questions about the indictment. He was in Chicago to attend a round of union meetings.

Although Hoffa refused further comment on the case, one of his aides charged that the government's action was "politically motivated" and calculated to lessen Hoffa's chances of re-election to the union's presidency.

Kennedy Hemmed In

Shopper Has High Hopes

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's only 15 more shopping days to Christmas and President-elect John Kennedy—he comes from a big family—is getting nervous.

So are his security aides. The Massachusetts senator with his quick flashing grin and bare head stands out in a crowd like a beacon at midnight.

Last night he took a stroll during a theatre intermission along 45th Street toward Times Square. He was mobbed in minutes.

Mounted police, Secret Service men and plainclothes detectives scrambled after him, grunting and grumbling. He returned to the theatre in a flying wedge of protection.

Now he wants to go shopping.

He is staying on Madison Avenue where the shopping already is brisk. If he heads for Fifth Avenue, where the lavish Christmas windows beckon the throngs, major traffic jams are expected.

Nevertheless Kennedy hopes to slip away from the Carlyle Hotel—now covered by a swarm of reporters—unnoticed and quietly do some shopping.

Being Deported from U.S.

Pro-Nazi Can't Be Barred

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will find it difficult to revoke the Canadian citizenship of a Nazi sympathizer who is being deported to this country from the United States, Immigration Minister Fairclough said in the Commons yesterday.

Leon Cresthol (L—Montreal

Cartier) said Hungarian-born Janos Pall should either be denied readmission to Canada or have his citizenship revoked.

Mrs. Fairclough said her department had no official word that he is being deported from the United States, but is concerned about his case because he came to Canada 10 years ago and became a citizen in January, 1957.

Only extraordinary grounds would permit Canada to revoke his citizenship, she said, but he will be subject to Canadian law and whatever punishment might be meted out by Canadian authorities.

Russia Sees War Danger 'Ignorant' China Does Not

VANCOUVER (CP)—Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., a Harvard history professor and Pulitzer prize-winning author, said Wednesday the danger of a third world war rests more with Red China than the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet Union has now come to realize the ghastly implications," said Mr.

Schlesinger, who was here to address students at the University of British Columbia.

He doubted if the Chinese Communists have achieved the same sense of responsibility as the Soviet Union.

"They are ignorant of the outside world and see it through a vicious ideology," Mr. Schlesinger said. Red China could lose a population in a war equal to the present total of the U.S.S.R. and the United States combined and still have millions left over.

Less apt to fear total destruction, they might be more irresponsible, he said.

"It is interesting that, so far as is known, Russia has refused to make the bomb available to Red China.

"If Red China would play ball on a system of arms control, I'd be all for admitting them to the United Nations."

Mr. Schlesinger, on leave from Harvard, assisted the Democratic party in the recent U.S. election campaign.

One in Ten Jobless Here

By TED SHACKLEFORD

More than one-tenth of Victoria's total working force is unemployed, secretary A. W. Toone told Victoria Labor Council last night.

"As of last Thursday evening there were 3,938 men and 1,530 women unemployed here," he told the meeting. "This is up about 300 from the previous week and represents more than 10 per cent of the working force of this area."

• Made tentative arrangements to hold a mass rally of unemployed persons in Greater Victoria.

• Decided to ignore Victoria MP A. DeB. McPhillips, who recently claimed no local union had communicated with him about unemployment.

• Protested employment of RCN sailors in painting their ships while they are in local shipyards for refit.

• Attacked Victoria Postmaster Robert Reid for asking apartment house janitors to help with the delivery of Christmas mail to tenants.

• Sought action in the case of a casually employed carpenter up-island who was refused unemployment insurance because of a technicality.

The mass rally will be held on a date to be set in co-operation with the Federation of Unemployed, sponsored by the B.C. Federation of Labor. A similar meeting has been held in Vancouver.

PETITION URGED

Local 191 of the International Boilermakers' Union disputed a claim by Mr. McPhillips that no local union had complained to him over unemployment and called for circulation of a petition asking Mr. McPhillips to resign.

By unanimous vote the meeting adopted this resolution:

"While we endorse the request in principle we believe

Reds Fail To Launch Spaceman

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Daily News says Russia attempted to launch a man into space and failed.

This was reported by Paul Ghali, paper's Bern correspondent, who identified his sources as foreign diplomats in Switzerland who have contacts in Moscow.

The launching was rumored early this fall. It ended in tragedy, Ghali reported, and further experiments were postponed for several months.

Rural Saanich Water Just 150 Names Away

Signatures of 150 ratepayers will be required before a domestic water supply can be made available to Central Saanich municipality.

Following up their recent acquisition of the federal government-owned Elk Lake Patricia Bay water pipeline, Central Saanich councillors are busy signing up prospective customers for the service. They hope to have enough customers listed by Jan. 7 to get the distribution project started.

If successful, council hopes to win federal approval of the project as a subsidized winter work scheme.

Customers already using the line include Saanichton experimental farm, Patricia Bay Airport, and the provincial government ferry service at Swartz Bay.

At present Central Saanich residents use wells for their water supply.

Two Cars Badly Bent Third Dented in Crash

Two cars were badly bent and a third dented in a three-car collision at Quadra and Caledonia yesterday afternoon.

Police said a car driven by John Walter Lindsay, Sooke Road, heading west on Caledonia, hit a second auto driven by Jack E. McCormick, 3696 Quadra, as it headed along Quadra Street. The McCormick car in turn ran into a third auto driven by George D. Percy, 1769 Kisher, police said. None of the drivers were injured.

Smokey's Night Out Spent in Comfort

Smokey, a mostly Boston Bull female pup feared stolen from city police constable Ray Thomas, spent a comfortable night at the home of a neighbor and was returned to the Thomas house early yesterday morning.

The three-month-old pup was let out of the house by Mrs. Thomas around 6 p.m. Tuesday and failed to return.

Electronic

Four 'Brains' Set For TCA Offices

Trans-Canada Air Lines has started extensive modernization of its downtown ticket office to include four electronic "brains" which can check, confirm and record reservations on any flight within three seconds.

"We have no intention of vacating Victoria," Robert Kolb, Victoria manager, said last night, referring to suggestions that the company plans to close down its offices here.

Dollar Drain

Investment Barriers 'No Solution'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A state department official spoke out Wednesday against restricting the export of private capital or curtailing American travel abroad to reduce the United States loss of gold and dollars.

State Undersecretary Livingston Merchant, former ambassador to Canada, said the way to restore balance in the U.S. international financial situation is to expand American exports of goods.

Apologize to Union Candidate Ordered

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bus driver seeking election to Burnaby council has been told he must apologize to members of his union before he can attend another union meeting.

Edward Buckley, an independent-labor candidate, is running against two members of his union.

and criticized use of union funds for political purposes. Street Railwaymen's Union replied an apology was requested because of "unparliamentary behaviour" at a union meeting. Mr. Buckley, an independent-labor candidate, is running against two members of his union.

Another Discoverer roars into orbit from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California today. Planes and ships will stand by later to attempt capsule recovery.—(AP Photofax.)

Human Tissue Aloft With Spy Gadgets

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The United States Air Force, using a new "hot rod" booster, fired into polar orbit Wednesday a Discoverer satellite containing human tissue and spy gadgets.

Planes later will try to recover the cargo by catching the parachuting capsule in the air.

The new satellite is circling the earth once every 94 minutes in an egg-shaped path whose far point is 450 miles, near point 150.

Its thrust has been souped up 15,000 pounds to a total of 165,000.

The human tissue, from the underside of an eyelid, was in a 300-pound capsule in the nose of the second stage. With it were bits of human bone marrow, algae, spores, gamma globulin, albumin, gold foil and various kinds of film.

Scientists hope to recover them to learn how they are affected by radiation—vital for the man-in-space program.

Cheaper Butter Predicted

EDMONTON (UPI) — Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton today forecast a sizable reduction in the price of butter to the Canadian consumer. He said sales were dropping at present prices.

Three Pastors Survive Crash

ALERT BAY — Three United Church ministers were rescued by a fishboat here Wednesday after their Cessna float aircraft flipped over on takeoff.

Rescued were Rev. Wayne MacKenzie, pilot, of Alert Bay, Rev. Bill Van Druten and Rev. Chris Jack, both of Nanaimo. None of the men was injured.

WING DIGS IN

The mission plane, which was to take the trio to Port Alice where a new congregation was to be constituted, was dedicated by church dignitaries Oct. 24.

The incident was described by Mr. Van Druten who said: "We were just about off the water when one wing suddenly lifted and the other one dug in to the surface. Forward motion of the plane forced the nose into the water, and it flipped over."

He said the three fought with their safety belts as the plane sank deeper into the water.

"We were able to get out on the wing when it was about a foot under water — then as the plane sank deeper we climbed onto the pontoons."

He said the men spent only about five minutes on the sinking plane before the fishboat arrived.

Municipal Polls Open From 8 to 8 Today

Greater Victoria—municipal voters will go to the polls today between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Eligible to vote in the municipalities of the Greater Victoria area are residents and those who own or rent property though they may live in another municipality.

But only those on the voters' lists of the city or municipalities may cast ballots.

Victoria city electors will vote at the Victoria Ballroom at Government and Cormorant, choosing four aldermen from 11 candidates.

Saanich residents will elect three councillors from 12 candidates, and property owners of the Cadboro Bay-Gordon Head-Shelbourne districts will vote on sewer bylaws for $1,200,000.

They also will pick one District 61 school trustee from three candidates.

WHERE TO VOTE

Polling stations for Saanich residents are the CCF Hall, Douglas Street; Gordon Head Community Hall, Hampton Hall, Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall, Lansdowne Junior High, McMoran's Seaview Room, Margold Scout Hall, Mount View High, Prospect Lake School, Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall, St. George the Martyr Hall, St. Luke's Hall, and St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Hall.

Oak Bay electors will choose three councillors from four candidates and ratepayers will be asked to indicate whether or not they favor the reeve and councillors receiving indemnities. They will vote at the municipal hall.

In the rural area of School District 63, voters will elect one of two candidates as a trustee.

Liquor Profit Tax-Troubled

MONTREAL (CP) — J. M. McAvity, chairman of the House of Seagram Ltd., said Wednesday excessive federal taxation of liquor has resulted in a sharp loss of revenue to distillers.

Liquor, Pills Fatal Mixture

VANCOUVER (CP) — A mixture of liquor and barbiturates has killed 50 persons here this year, coroner Glen McDonald said Wednesday.

He said many of the victims apparently weren't aware of the danger and paid no attention to the amount of liquor and barbiturates they were using. Other deaths came when drug addicts used the mixture because they couldn't afford heroin, or heavy drinkers to get a bigger kick.

Mr. McDonald said a dose of eight pills taken with beer or liquor can be fatal if treatment isn't given immediately.

Police and medical officials met all day, to investigate ways of stopping the mounting toll, possibly by establishing tighter controls on the sale of barbiturates.

Deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose: "We are very concerned that these barbiturates seem to be so freely available."

Exporters Told To Go All-Out

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night called Canadian exporters to prepare for an "all-out effort to sell their products in the face of regional trading developments."

Diefenbaker told the export trade promotion conference dinner that Canadian access in the European common market and other world trading areas must be improved at next year's international tariff negotiations.

"Canada faces a major test

in the United Kingdom and in Western Europe," the prime minister told some 1,000 Canadian businessmen and 111 Canadian foreign trade commissioners attending the conference.

"Canadian exporters must prepare for an all-out effort to sell their products if they are to profit from the vast possibilities of these markets," Diefenbaker said. "Canada's economic opportunities demand the expansion of her world markets."

Sputnik I Changed U.S. Buying Habits

MONTREAL (CP) — Russia's outer space success has changed North American buying habits, says Louis Cheskin, a color research expert from Chicago. He said Wednesday that people became interested in dependability and simplicity after Russia launched its Sputnik I space satellite. Ornamentation and loud multiple coloring dropped sharply in popularity, he told the Advertising and Sales Executives Club here.

Christmas Joy for Those Without Depends Upon Those Who Have

Christmas means many things to many people.

For most it is a time to knit family ties more closely—a time to give a little and to receive a little—a happy time, warm and comfortable and steeped in good fellowship and friendship.

For others it is a time of sadness, a time when the long looks of children must go unheeded and there is little joy in the world.

These are the people who through misfortune or misadventure face Christmas with the means to provide the comfort, the warmth and the little gifts.

These are the people whose happiness rests upon the generosity of those who support The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

Their ranks number widows with children, the infirm, the unfortunate, the unemployed. Into their lives, with your help, the Colonist can breathe that spark of brightness which will redeem a season of disillusion and restore it to one of happiness, of festive well-being.

Often from such a spark can be rekindled the true flame of life which transforms this year's receivers into next year's givers.

All-Canada Plea Sent to Fleming

(Special to the Colonist)

OTTAWA—Resignation of James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, has been called for by university economics professors across Canada in a letter addressed to Hon. Donald Fleming, minister of finance.

The letter states bluntly, "We have lost confidence in the ability of the bank's management to play its proper role in ameliorating and resolving (our economic, trade and financial) difficulties."

SINCE 1954

Mr. Coyne, 50, has held the $50,000-a-year post since 1954. Asked for comment on the letter an official of the bank said simply that no one "has seen or heard anything."

One of the authors of the letter condemning Mr. Coyne—a professor at Ottawa's Carleton University—remarked: "That's exactly what's wrong with the bank: it never does see or hear anything." He contended that the letter was not politically inspired. Those supporting it represented all political stripes.

BEGAN IN JUNE

Developments that led to the letter began June 1 and were led by members of the economic faculties at Ottawa's Carleton and Toronto universities. Mimeographed copies have been sent to interested members of the faculties at the universities of Manitoba, British Columbia and Alberta as well as to other universities across the country. Many at these universities have indicated they will sign the letter, according to its Carleton sponsors.

The letter says in part: "Recent statements by the governor have seriously shaken our faith in the wisdom and competence of the bank's management."

STABILIZING FORCE

"The bank should act as a stabilizing force in the economy and not as one whose actions tend to exacerbate our economic and financial difficulty."

The letter closes on this urgent note:

"We plead that you should appreciate the gravity of this situation and that you should act without delay ... to alter management of the Bank of Canada."

At Carleton the letter was signed by Professors Scott Gordon, L. M. Read, H. E. English and S. F. Kaliski. Copies have gone forward to other universities. They are to be signed and forwarded to Mr. Fleming.

Those responsible for its inception at Carleton University told newsmen that they had received assurance of agreement and support from campuses in all parts of Canada.

One of the letter's authors summed up its beginnings this way:

"It all began last June. It seemed that every time we economists would meet, the conversation invariably got around to governor Coyne and the policies of the Bank of Canada."

"We found both a source of increasing surprise, bewilderment and anger."

MORE AND MORE

"More and more we found ourselves in disagreement with the governor and the bank's program. It got so that everybody was telling everybody else that Mr. Coyne was making only nonsense, until finally we reached the point where we felt we had to become specific."

"The letter, then, appeared the sensible course of action; and so we began work on it, and I am glad to report, it has been given the unanimous approval of our colleagues in the group."

Governor Coyne is a former

Dockyard Layoffs Recorded

OTTAWA (CP)—There has been a net reduction of 99 civilian employees at the Canadian navy dockyard at Esquimalt, B.C., in the last six months, Associate Defence Minister Seigny said in the Commons Wednesday.

Replying to questions by Paul Hellyer (L.—Toronto Trinity), he said 304 casual employees were laid off following completion of their work but another 238 taken on in the six months ended Nov. 30.

There were 33 firemen-laborers and 11 telephone operators no longer needed in the same period but other jobs were found for 11 of them.

Foreign Purchases

Grudge Held
By Merchants
Against TarsBy HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

A storm of secret resentment is brewing in the bosoms of some Victoria merchants against crews of various Royal Canadian Navy ships which returned recently to Victoria loaded with foreign-purchased Christmas gifts.

The navy men, who had been on exercise in foreign waters, came back with their Christmas shopping completed for gifts to wives and families. Victoria merchants saw in the action nothing but a loss of legitimate trade from one of the largest sections of the local purchasing public.

FEAR REPRISALS

Because they fear reprisals—withdrawal of custom by naval personnel—merchants have begged that their names should not be mentioned in connection with their feelings. But they feel that this year, "when not more than a dozen stores may be showing a profit on the year so far," foreign buying by naval personnel is not playing the game.

Earlier this year, Admiral H. S. Rayner, former flag officer, Pacific Coast, and now the naval chief of staff, said that in recent years the navy has provided a $38,000,000-a-year boost to the Greater Victoria economy.

He pointed out that most of this money, which includes food, goods, services and service pay, but not new ships or buildings, is spent locally.

COSTLY TOYS

Pictures taken of the return of navy ships recently showed sailors with crates and parcels of costly toys and household appliances.

"We know that many Canadians do their Christmas shopping in the United States, and there is little we can do about it," said one merchant. "But these people pay their own fares to and from the United States and spend their own money for accommodation and meals."

"With the Canadian navy it is different. The taxpayers' money is used to take them to foreign parts, and is enabling them to make purchases that have nothing whatsoever to do with their naval duties."

Canadians who are out of the country for 48 hours or more are allowed to bring home with them up to $100 worth of merchandise, free of customs duty once every four months. This exemption also applies to members of the armed services, and these in some cases can have their exemptions raised to $200 provided the claim is made not more than once a year.

It was under this latter clause that Victoria merchants base part of their current complaint against the purchases of Christmas gifts.

On Highway

A Saanich pedestrian wearing dark clothing was taken to hospital and released three-quarters of an hour later after being hit by a car at Tillamook and Trans-Canada Highway at 6 p.m. last night.

Garage operator Brian Tenyson, 3446 Wascana, heard the screech of brakes and ran to the scene to find the victim, Leslie Jones, 3850 Rowland, lying on the ground. "At first I thought he was dead," he said.

Police said Mr. Jones was hit by a car driven by Robert Mills, 3441 Esson.

Fire Razes Home

NANAIMO—A family of six were made homeless as the result of a fire in the greater Nanaimo district. The blaze destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ness, owners of Speedway Rollerdom, at the junction of Yellowpoint Road and Cedar Highway.

The home is located outside Cedar fire district but the volunteer fire department tried to extinguish it but found their hose could not reach it.

The blaze is believed to have started with an explosion of cleaning fluid in the kitchen of the house and then spread through the rest of the structure. The home was a new one.

The family consists of the parents and four children. No one was injured in the blaze.

PARKSVILLE—There will be no municipal election in Parksville on Thursday as all council and school board seats were filled by acclamation.

This is the third successive year that there has been no election for councillors here. Frank H. Shorttred, who is completing a council term, was the only candidate for the office of chairman of the Corporation of the Village of Parksville. Mr. Shorttred has served for some years as a councillor and will now complete the one year term of office made vacant by the resignation of Albert J. Lock.

Arthur M. Butler was returned as a member of council for a two-year term and Edward Irving, a newcomer to local politics, also won a two-year term as a councillor. Mr. Butler, a logger, has lived here most of his life and has been on council since 1957. Mr. Irving is the owner of Irving Sheet Metal Works and has resided in Parksville for nine years.

Also returned by acclamation is E. A. Lundine as Parksville school trustee.

NANAIMO—Donations from all over the world are continuing to insure rebuilding of Nanaimo's historic Chinatown but the finished picture will be different.

Planning is now in its final stages and it is thought that something more modern, and in a low type, "senior citizen building" will be adopted. Dwellings left after the disastrous fire of Sept. 30 have been condemned.

Bennett Invites Premiers
To Meet Here in 1962

Premier Bennett said yesterday he had invited provincial premiers to meet in conference here in 1962.

He has just returned from the first meeting of premiers in some 70 years. A meeting will be held next year in Prince Edward Island "which claims to be the cradle of Confederation."

Killer-Whale Last Totem

Last totem to be carved in Thunderbird Park for some months is this killer-whale being shaped by Henry Hunt, son-in-law of Chief Mungo Martin, and father of 12. CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Volunteer Fire Department held open house last week for members of visiting fire departments on the island.

The previous Saturday their newly-completed $35,000 fire hall addition, including reading room, recreation and lecture rooms, kitchen, change and rest rooms were open to the general public, and some 125 visitors inspected the new quarters.

The new addition provides ample space for both fire engines, the rescue and salvage trucks and Chemainus ambulance.

City Quartet
To Receive
Horse Prizes

Four Victoria members of the Canadian Horse Shows Association will receive awards at the annual zone awards banquet Saturday in Vancouver.

Victoria winners include Jean Dunbar, 1007 Joan Crescent, owner of Seven Up, winner as a working hunter; Mrs. J. V. Donaldson, 1536 Arrow, owner of Hindu Punch, winner as a green hunter; Miss Dunbar, owner of Trader, winner child's hunter; Miss Dunbar, Fen's Holly, winner child's hack; C. C. Carpenter, R.R. 4, Victoria, owner of Irish Coffee, winner western pleasure and western trail horse; Miss Madeline Cuppage, 2534 Bowker, reserve winner in equitation, basic seat; Miss Dunbar, winner in equitation basic seat and winner in equitation, hunting seat.

Leaders Implore Ratepayers

Get Out and Vote!

The civic leaders of Greater Victoria were unanimous last night in calling for everybody eligible to go to the polls and vote—even Reeve A. C. Wurtelle of Esquimalt, where there is no election.

"The apathy of the public to civic elections is a problem across Canada," Mayor Percy Scourrah said. "After all, local government is grass roots government."

Reeve George Murdoch called for a full vote to "clarify the pay issue once and for all."

"I hope the people will vote even though there are no major issues involved," he said. "On every occasion a vote is does not eliminate the necessity of people exercising their right."

Reeve George Murdoch called for a full vote to "clarify the pay issue once and for all."

"I hope the people will vote even though there are no major issues involved," he said. "On every occasion a vote is called for the people should turn out."

Reeve Wurtelle said the usual civic vote in Greater Victoria municipalities is only 30 per cent.

"This is a very poor vote. Although we have no election in Esquimalt I would like to see a heavy vote in the other areas."

Rivalry
Premier

Rivalry between Saanich and Victoria over the naming of the third government ferry to be built for the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run was termed by Premier Bennett yesterday as "the one thing that has pleased me more than anything else since I've been premier."

He said the rivalry meant that the ferry service was an outstanding success.

The premier added that no decision had been made as to a name for the ferry, tenders for which will be called this week.

New Party

Hamilton Seeking Office

New Party candidate in the coming Esquimalt-Saanich by-election will be 40-year-old Glen Hamilton, director of the Silver Threads Agency, who was instrumental in establishing a New Party Club here during the weekend.

His was the only nomination received when they closed at midnight Wednesday. It is understood he was chosen at a meeting of CCF and trade union representatives Tuesday.

Mr. Hamilton came to B.C. in 1920.

Attempted Murder Charged

Joseph Altorjai, 1308 Douglas, charged Sept. 30 with attempted murder following an affray in a downtown restaurant, has been found fit to stand trial on the charge.

He had been ruled mentally unfit to stand trial and was committed to the provincial mental home at Essondale.

A cabinet order now transfers him back to Victoria city jail to face "due process of law."

Charge arose from a complaint by James Cameron, 824 Broughton, that he had been struck on the arm with an axe by the accused in the Melrose Cafe.

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Community Centre has now added roller skating to its recreational facilities.

Special fibre-wheel roller skates may be rented from the recreational centre and schedule permits two hours on Friday evening for age group 13 and over, and two hours on Saturday afternoon for all children under 13. Family skating is on Sunday afternoons.

The fibre-wheel roller skates do not damage the large 84 by 44-foot floor for other activities, but no other type of skates are permitted.

ERRINGTON — A colorful, entertaining operetta, "The Season of Happiness," was presented at the Errington War Memorial Hall by a cast of 45 children under direction of Mrs. H. J. Simons, with Miss Louise Simons as pianist.

The colorful costumes, the charming musical score and the unselfconscious acting of the youngsters, who ranged in age from 4 to 14 years, were favorably commented on by the fair-sized audiences at the two nights of presentation. Stage manager was H. F. Butler and sponsoring group was the E.D.A. Players.

End Not in Sight

Another Climax Due
In Arena Wrangle

By R. O. MARRION

The Memorial Arena controversy will reach another climax Friday afternoon, but probably not an end.

A compromise solution arrived at after hours of private dispute and debate by the commission will be put before city council.

LEAKED OUT

If the compromise is in the form that leaked out yesterday—presumably not directly from commission members, because, one of them said, the report was not entirely correct—indications are that council will not completely approve of it.

In that case, the upshot is anyone's guess. But some members of council are showing signs of an increasing inclination to ask for the resignations of the commissioners.

COMPROMISE

The proposed compromise between Courtney Haddock and the rest of the commissioners, according to the information in circulation yesterday, is this:

• A new arena general manager would be hired.

• Joseph Dukowski would be offered the job of building and promotion manager at $6,000 a year instead of the present $10,400.

• Kenneth Noakes would be rehired as office manager and the other five employees who resigned also would be rehired en bloc.

The "leaked" information also was that City Manager C. C. Wyatt would be appointed secretary of the arena. From reaction of a commissioner, however, this report appeared wrong.

MADE DECISION

Mayor Percy Scourrah, who talked with commission vice-chairman W. F. Pinfold after the commission made its decision Tuesday at noon, nevertheless appeared surprised at the report yesterday when he first heard it.

He expressed doubt that this was the proposed setup, because, he said, it seemed too complicated. Later in the day he said he had not yet received the commission's statement to council.

EXPRESS OPINION

"I don't see how I can express an opinion on a speculation story," he said. "After council gets the report on Friday, I'll express my opinion."

"Nor would commission chairman Frank G. Mulliner say anything about the report."

"We all swore not to say anything before council receives

Compromise
Solution Arrived At

the statement and I can't say anything now," he said.

Indications that the setup reportedly planned won't meet complete approval from council came from Aldermen Geoffrey Edgewood and M. H. Mooney.

"I would say first that to my thinking, Dukowski and Noakes were together in whatever did happen at the arena for years," Ald. Edgewood said, "and both put up with it."

"Second, there's no question from a financial standpoint that the arena has been operated successfully—it has made an average operating profit of $37,000 a year—and no doubt the commission has taken this into consideration."

"But if the decision to take back all the staff has been made in the city's interests, then I think they should take Dukowski back in his original capacity. There's no point in having an extra manager."

"A lot of things that have been charged are picaresque, but there should be a closer liaison between the commission and the operation, and now if the air is cleared I don't doubt that there will be closer liaison so this sort of thing won't happen again."

Ald. Mooney said the proposals were "not the way I would think it should have been handled."

This solution, he said, might meet the requirements of some people and the press "but it's not what I feel would be good business."

Mr. Dukowski and Mr. Noakes both said yesterday they had not been informed of the commission's plans and therefore would not comment.

930 Moved
To Forestry

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister announced yesterday in the Commons that 930 employees of the northern affairs and agriculture departments have been transferred to the new department of forestry headed by former New Brunswick premier Hugh John Fleming.

DUNCAN — Rotary directors are to consider the fate of a $3,500 fund set up as a loan bank for college students—but which hasn't been touched for about five years.

It is felt that the fund has helped students who have known they could fall back on it, but instead went ahead and won scholarships.

INNOCENTS ABROAD: Premier Bennett, who has more than enough ability to sell a warehouse full of refrigerators to a parcel of Eskimos, entertained this column yesterday with a glowing account of his invasion of the political bastions of Quebec.

In the interests of history we run excerpts from the verbatim account:

"... Yes, my friend, we had a very interesting time in Quebec. After the premiers' conference we went to... how do you pronounce it?"

(Aide whispers name.)

"Ah, yes. Rouyn. Now this was the nomination of the first Social Creditor, maybe he's the first Social Creditor in Canada, for the next federal election. They nominated the provincial president in that constituency. What was his name?"

(Aide whispers name.)

"Ah, yes. RE-A-L C-A-O-U-E-T-T-E. Why he was once a federal member of parliament."

Column: "Was he a Social Creditor then?"

Premier: "Well, I don't know. He may have been."

The premier grinned broadly. "Now, my friend, I want to tell you something."

"This was the most enthusiastic Social Credit meeting I've ever been to. I only wish I could speak French. The auditorium held about 2,000 people. And it was not only packed to the doors but there were people outside too... listening over loudspeakers. I never had such a rousing welcome and I spoke last. You know, they sing these French songs to you."

Premier Bennett looked toward the ceiling, threw back

his shoulders and continued: "My friend, I would say that Social Credit will win the majority of seats in Quebec in the next federal election. Social Credit has a better chance of winning the largest number of seats in the next election in Canada than Social Credit had in B.C. in 1952."

"Those French people in Quebec are more clever than we are. They speak two languages. Why even 90 per cent of the people can even understand my own language. Of course, you would hear a lot of whispering—you know, the younger people telling the older people what I said."

"Yes, my friend, thousands of people in Quebec are turning to Social Credit. I was just amazed at their enthusiasm."

Coast Road Now Open 24 Hours

ALBERNI — Access restrictions on the Tofino-Alberni Highway are being lifted temporarily, according to highways department engineer William Bos, Alberni.

After 5 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 8, the road will be open 24 hours a day until further notice. Public use of the highway is at present restricted to the hours between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. daily except weekends when it is open from 5 p.m. Friday until 7 a.m. Monday.

No Frills, Bankers Protest

NANAIMO — Managers of Nanaimo's chartered banks yesterday denied that the buildings they occupy boast unnecessary frills.

Their indignant denial came hard on the heels of a Saskatchewan MP's Commons statement that Nanaimo banks were trying to outdo each other in creating show places. Managers said the city's banks represent functionalism and modern architecture in keeping with a growing community.

Said one, "the former building we occupied was over 60 years old and conditions for both employees and clientele were deplorable."

Said another, "we want to hold our own in the community... it's not a matter of competition at all."

Ill Appreciate Free Service

PORT ALBERNI — Only those who are ill or injured and those responsible for their care can appreciate a free service being given here by the local branch of the Red Cross Society.

Mrs. Gilbert H. Renwick is custodian of the Red Cross Loan Cupboard organized here in 1948. She has seen the cupboard's contents grow from a start of two bedpans to an extensive array of supplies for sick and crippled.

Hospital beds, wheel chairs, bed trays and tables, steam vaporizers, crutches and invalid air rings are only a few of the articles which are loaned to anyone who asks. The equipment is loaned for the period of need up to two months, with a one-month extension on request.

Mrs. Renwick points out that none of the equipment can be given outright. The expensive articles are mostly gifts from organizations or private donors and are expressly for lending purposes.

B.C. Triples Bourbon List

Two more brands of bourbon whisky have gone on sale at B.C. liquor stores at $6.70 and $7.20 a bottle respectively. A third, cheap brand has been sold for a number of years at $4.75 a bottle.

Liquor Control Board officials said bourbon was not a big seller even among tourists.

School Bylaw Crucial In Nanaimo Election

NANAIMO — This is election day in many localities throughout B.C. with a school bylaw referendum playing a major part in the voting in Nanaimo district.

There are three aldermen and two school trustees to be elected out of six aldermanic candidates and three for the school board.

While the city election is commanding some interest the question of a $500,000 school construction program has brought about the most interest.

A 60 per cent majority is necessary for passage of school plans which includes nine new classrooms for the senior high school and six classrooms for Dufferin Crescent school, both of which are now overcrowded.

Three incumbent aldermen are challenging three new candidates while the three trustees iterants are all newcomers to the local scene.

Nanaimo

New Library Wins Approval

NANAIMO — The new library at the corner of Fitzwilliam and Priddle Streets has been approved as a winter works project but there are still hurdles to be overcome.

Present plans are for the new building to be constructed opposite the RCMP station and the Central Vancouver Island Health Centre and of a similar design. However it is believed that some move is afoot to press for purchase of a building on Wallace Street, close to the present dilapidated site, which could be converted.

The plan would be to put present funds into the conversion of such a structure.

4-H Calf Club Prizes Listed

Saanich Ayrshire and Holstein 4-H Calf Clubs awards were presented at a banquet recently.

Award winners were: Ayrshire, Bonnie Reimer, general proficiency; Bonnie Reimer, Highland trophy for the best fitted calf; Scott Kendrew, a year's subscription to Board's Dairyman, for year's greatest improvement; Holstein club, Ward Bishop, Bank of Commerce trophy for general proficiency; Colin Armour, a year's subscription to Board's Dairyman.

Overseas visitors to Britain during 1960 will total 1,500,000 by the end of the year, it is predicted.

Buckets of Love —No Delinquency

DUNCAN — The first "no" said to a child makes it a potential delinquent if it is not followed by "buckets and buckets" of love and attention, said a Catholic priest here this week.

Father Michael Morrish said: "For the first year or so the child is a little Caesar, and there must be a tremendous upheaval in its mind when it gets the first 'no'."

The head of the Catholic Youth Organization here was addressing a panel discussion on juvenile delinquency.

Young teen-agers also face such a crisis when their parents expect them to act like adults, but deny them adult rights. They end in a feeling of rejection and become anti-social. Their omnipotence has been torpedoed. The most important food at this stage is buckets and buckets of love.

"Only when it is lacking, and the child feels rejected, does it go out and do things to prove he is an individual. Some of these things result in the term delinquent," said the priest.

They will not become delinquent if they are allowed to bask in the "reflected glory" of their parents' love.

FIRE BANKER COYNE ECONOMISTS URGE

National Plea Ottawa-Bound

(Special to the Colonist)

OTTAWA—Resignation of James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, has been called for by university economics professors across Canada in a letter addressed to Hon. Donald Fleming, minister of finance.

The letter states bluntly, "We have lost confidence in the ability of the bank's management to play its proper role in ameliorating and resolving (our economic, trade and financial) difficulties."

Mr. Coyne, 50, has held the $50,000-a-year post since 1954. Asked for comment on the letter an official of the bank said simply that no one "has seen or heard anything."

One of the authors of the letter condemning Mr. Coyne—a professor at Ottawa's Carleton University—remarked: "That's exactly what's wrong with the bank; it never does see or hear anything." He contended that the letter was not politically inspired. Those supporting it represented all political stripes.

Developments that led to the letter began June 1 and were led by members of the economic faculties at Ottawa's Carleton and Toronto universities. Mimeographed copies have been sent to interested members of the faculties at the universities of Manitoba, British Columbia and Alberta as well as to other universities across the country. Many at these universities have indicated they will sign the letter, according to its Carleton sponsors.

The letter says in part: "Recent statements by the governor have seriously shaken our faith in the wisdom and competence of the bank's management."

STABILIZING FORCE
"The bank should act as a stabilizing force in the economy and not as one whose actions tend to exacerbate our economic and financial difficulty."

The letter closes on this urgent note: "We plead that you should appreciate the gravity of this situation and that you should act without delay . . . to alter management of the Bank of Canada."

At Carleton the letter was signed by Professors Scott Gordon, L. M. Read, H. E. English and S. F. Kaliski. Copies have gone forward to other universities. They are to be signed and forwarded to Mr. Fleming.

Those responsible for its inception at Carleton University have been a net reduction of 99 civilian employees at the Canadian navy dockyard at Esquimalt, B.C., in the last six months, Associate Defence Minister Seigney said in the Commons Wednesday.

Replying to questions by Paul Hellyer (L—Toronto Trinity), he said 304 casual employees were laid off following completion of their work but another 238 taken on in the six months ended Nov. 30.

There were 33 firemen-laborers and 11 telephone operators no longer needed in the same period but other jobs were found for 11 of them.

Three Pastors Survive Crash

ALERT BAY — Three United Church ministers were rescued by a fishboat here Wednesday after their Cessna float aircraft flipped over on takeoff.

Rescued were Rev. Wayne MacKenzie, pilot, of Alert Bay, Rev. Bill Van Druten and Rev. Chris Jack, both of Nanaimo. None of the men was injured.

WING DIGS IN

The mission plane, which was to take the trio to Port Alice where a new congregation was to be constituted, was dedicated by church dignitaries Oct. 24.

The incident was described by Mr. Van Druten who said: "We were just about off the water when one wing suddenly lifted and the other one dug in to the surface. Forward motion of the plane forced the nose into the water, and it flipped over."

He said the three fought with their safety belts as the plane sank deeper into the water.

"We were able to get out on the wing when it was about a foot under water — then as the plane sank deeper we climbed onto the pontoons."

He said the men spent only about five minutes on the sinking plane before the fishboat arrived.

Municipal Polls Open From 8 to 8 Today

Greater Victoria municipal voters will go to the polls today between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Eligible to vote in the municipalities of the Greater Victoria area are residents and those who own or rent property though they may live in another municipality.

But only those on the voters' lists of the city or municipalities may cast ballots.

Victoria city electors will vote at the Victoria Ballroom at Government and Cormorant, choosing four aldermen from 11 candidates.

Saanich residents will elect three councillors from 12 candidates, and property owners of the Cadboro Bay-Gordon Head-Shebourne districts will vote on sewer bylaws for $1,200,000.

They also will pick one District 61 school trustee from three candidates.

WHERE TO VOTE

Polling stations for Saanich residents are the CCF Hall, Douglas Street; Gordon Head Community Hall, Hampton Hall, Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall, Lansdowne Junior High, McMorran's Seaview Room, Marigold Scout Hall, Mount View High, Prospect Lake School, Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall, St. George's Martyr Hall, St. Luke's Hall and St. Martin's in-the-Fields Hall.

Oak Bay electors will choose three councillors from four candidates and ratepayers will be asked to indicate whether or not they favor the reeve and councillors receiving indemnities. They will vote at the municipal hall.

Central Saanich voters, casting their ballots at the municipal hall and the Keating and Brentwood Women's Institute halls, will pick five councillors from among nine candidates.

In the rural area of School District 63, voters will elect one of two candidates as a trustee.

Esquimalt and Sidney Village won't have elections. Seats there were filled by acclamation.

MONTREAL (CP) — J. M. McAvity, chairman of the House of Seagram Ltd., said Wednesday excessive federal taxation of liquor has resulted in a sharp loss of revenue to distillers.

Liquor, Pills Fatal Mixture

VANCOUVER (CP) — A mixture of liquor and barbiturates has killed 50 persons here this year, coroner Glen McDonald said Wednesday.

He said many of the victims apparently weren't aware of the danger and paid no attention to the amount of liquor and barbiturates they were using. Other deaths came when drug addicts used the mixture because they couldn't afford heroin, or heavy drinkers to get a bigger kick.

Mr. McDonald said a dose of eight pills taken with beer or liquor can be fatal if treatment isn't given immediately.

Police and medical officials met all day, to investigate ways of stopping the mounting toll, possibly by establishing tighter controls on the sale of barbiturates.

Deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose: "We are very concerned that these barbiturates seem to be so freely available."

Exporters Told To Go All-Out

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night called Canadian exporters to prepare for an "all-out effort to sell their products in the face of regional trading developments."

Diefenbaker told the export trade promotion conference dinner that Canadian access in the European common market and other world trading areas must be improved at "next year's international tariff negotiations."

"Canada faces a major test

in the United Kingdom and in Western Europe," the prime minister told some 1,000 Canadian businessmen and 111 Canadian foreign trade commissioners attending the conference.

"Canadian exporters must prepare for an all-out effort to sell their products if they are to profit from the vast possibilities of these markets," Diefenbaker said. "Canada's economic opportunities demand the expansion of her world markets."

Sputnik I Changed U.S. Buying Habits

MONTREAL (CP) — Russia's outer space success has changed North American buying habits, says Louis Cheskin, a color research expert from Chicago. He said Wednesday that people became interested in dependability and simplicity after Russia launched its Sputnik I space satellite. Ornamentation and loud multiple coloring dropped sharply in popularity, he told the Advertising and Sales Executives Club here.

Human Tissue Aloft With Spy Gadgets

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The United States Air Force, using a new "hot rod" booster, fired into polar orbit Wednesday a Discoverer satellite containing human tissue and sky spy gadgets.

Planes later will try to recover the cargo by catching the parachuting capsule in the air.

The new satellite is circling the earth once every 94 minutes in an egg-shaped path whose far point is 450 miles, near point 150.

Its thrust has been souped up 15,000 pounds to a total of 165,000.

The human tissue, from the underside of an eyelid, was in a 300-pound capsule in the nose of the second stage. With it were bits of human bone marrow, algae, spores, gamma globulin, albumin, gold foil and various kinds of film.

Scientists hope to recover them to learn how they are affected by radiation—vital for the man-in-space program.

Christmas Joy for Those Without Depends Upon Those Who Have

Christmas means many unheeded and there is little joy in the world.

For most it is a time to knit family ties more closely—a time to give a little and to receive a little—a happy time warm and comfortable and steeped in good fellowship and friendship.

For others it is a time of sadness, a time when the long,ing looks of children must go unheeded and there is little joy in the world.

These are the people who through misfortune or misadventure face Christmas without the means to provide the comfort, the warmth and the little gifts.

These are the people whose happiness rests upon the generosity of those who support The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund.

Their ranks number widows with children, the infirm, the unfortunate, the unemployed.

Into their lives, with your help, the Colonist can breathe that spark of brightness which will redeem a season of disillusion and restore it to one of happiness, of festive well-being.

Often from such a spark can be rekindled the true flame of life which transforms

this year's receivers into next year's givers.
